FATE OF BECKER WITH JURY TODAY

Mr. Moss offered no apology. He declared, however, that if the district attorney had not accepted the testimony of the four informers, Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, all the men called with the case would now be at large.

"Can we go into the cess pool and pick out what witnesses we want?" he asked. "We cannot help the character of witnesses. The fact that the district attorney has been denounced by the defense simply shows the desperation of its counsel."

He declared Mr. McIntyre had misquoted the evidence of Jack Rose and had omitted Rose's declaration that Becker had said he wanted Rosenthal "murdered, dynamited, shot or croaked."

He also cited other instances in which he said Mr. McIntyre had made misrepresentations.

"That's not true, and you know it," interrupted Mr. McIntyre, rising and shaking his clenched fist at the speaker.

"It is true and I will prove it," retorted Mr. Moss, answering Mr. McIntyre. "I would never sleep if Becker were convicted on evidence unfairly presented. But I never will allow him to be acquitted on evidence suppressed or deliberately misrepresented."

He denied that Rose, Vallon and Webber had been given immunity. "Their stipulations do not protect them from prosecution if they fired a shot," he said, "and as to their walking down Broadway, I guess their friends, the gunmen of the underworld, will take care of that. To say these men are testifying to save their lives is to befog the issue."

Mr. Moss said that Krause, the waiter, whose testimony McIntyre had attacked, identified without hesitation three of the four gunmen as the men who fired one shot which killed Rosenthal.

"As for Lubin," Mr. Moss said, "it has been charged that we failed to produce the woman who was with him. Why should it be assumed that we could produce her? Perhaps Lubin wanted to protect her. Is that any thing against him?"

Even if Lubin had been convicted of a crime, Mr. Moss said, the district attorney would have failed in his duty if he had not accepted his testimony when it was offered him by the New Jersey authorities.

Frederick Hawley, the newspaper reporter put on by the defense to prove an alibi for Becker in connection with his alleged meeting with Rose and Webber, the morning of the murder, was declared by Mr. Moss to have been really a witness for the State.

"He testified that he telephoned Becker," said Mr. Moss, "and told him of the murder. Jack Rose testified that when he telephoned Becker, Becker had told him that he had heard of the murder from a newspaper man. There's corroboration from the defense's own witness.

Mr. Moss completed his address at 7:25 o'clock this evening and court adjourned.

WILSON DELIVERS SPEECH.

Preaches Sermon on Value of Church Organization—Anniversary.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 23.—In the solemn atmosphere of a church, apart from the noise of political demonstrations to which he has been accustomed during the last two months, Governor Woodrow Wilson delivered a speech tonight. It was virtually a sermon on the value of church organization and was the principal address at the exercises celebrating the 200th anniversary of the founding of the First Presbyterian Church of Trenton.

"Life without the standard of the church," said the Governor, "is something like a faltering quicksand. The Church is one of the many expressions of the permanent side of life. This church through its 200 years has witnessed the birth and death of political parties.

"It has seen everything change except the search for God, and every community should realize that the search for God should take precedence over everything else.

"I know that the salvation of a church, however, the salvation of the community and the salvation of the state is to be found only by men who are greater than themselves. A man who is indifferent to his own success, but confident only of the cause he represents, has the hosts of Almighty God behind him."

The audience listened intently and applauded vigorously when the Governor finished.

The Governor and Mrs. Wilson motored back to their home in Princeton after the exercises.

STR. BERKSHIRE SAVED.

Fire Extinguished—Passengers Leave for Philadelphia—Pamlico to Aid.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Fire in the hold of the Merchants & Miners' steamer Berkshire was practically extinguished late today after a fight that had been going on vigorously since the ship sought the shelter of Lookout Cove, N. C., Sunday morning early. Dispatches to the Revenue Cutter Service tonight from the commander of the cutter Seminole says the Berkshire had been flooded fore and aft; that traces of fire were about gone and the task now was to pump out the ship and get her afloat again.

All of the passengers from the Berkshire and some of those from the liner Frederick, which put into Lookout Cove yesterday to aid the burning steamer, left Beaufort, N. C., by rail tonight for Philadelphia. The Berkshire's passengers left Savannah last Friday.

As a wrecking tug has been ordered from Norfolk, the Seminole probably will leave the cove tomorrow night. It is believed that the entire cargo of the Berkshire is damaged and that the vessel itself has suffered to a considerable extent. There has been no estimate of the loss.

Newbern, N. C., Oct. 23.—The revenue cutter Pamlico, Capt. Horace West in command, cleared from this port at an early hour this morning with a cargo of 30 tons of coal for the revenue cutter Seminole which is off Lookout Cove fighting the fire on board the steamer Berkshire. The Pamlico will remain on the scene to render whatever aid possible.

SEVERE FIGHTING NEAR ADRIANOPLE

itary attaches will leave for the front Friday.

Official Notification of Victory.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 23.—It is officially announced that the third Servian army today captured the town of Novipazar, after fierce fighting and great sacrifices.

The Turks are retiring from Kumanova, but the town is still in their hands. The Servians have completely surrounded it, although the Turks hold an important position dominating the town.

The second contingent of wounded, numbering 150, arrived here this afternoon. Big crowds cheered as the transport wagons passed. All the schools are filled up as hospitals.

Greeks Occupy Servia.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 23.—1:15 P. M.—The Greeks have occupied the town of Servia, and have also captured the bridge over the river Aliakmon (Indje Karasa), thereby cutting off the retreat of the Turks. The government has dispatched telegrams congratulating the commander and the troops.

CARTED NITRO AROUND

McNamara and McManigal Hauled Explosives in Wagons

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 23.—How J. B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal carried away nitro-glycerine by the wagon loads was described Charles C. Kizer at the trial of the accused "dynamite plotters" today.

Kizer, who now lives at Tulsa, Okla., was the manager of the plant for the manufacture of explosives at Albany, and when in 1908 he said the dynamiters began buying nitro-glycerine from him and hauling it away in wagons to Muncie, Ind. The government in charging the 45 men on trial for complicity, asserts that the McNamaras resorted to nitro-glycerine in blowing up jobs after they found dynamite was not strong enough and that they rented a house in Muncie to hide the explosive.

"One day in response to a telephone call from Indianapolis," said Kizer, "I met J. B. McNamara at Muncie. He represented himself as being George J. Clark, a contractor of Peoria, Ill., and said he wanted nitro-glycerine to blow up some ditches near Indianapolis. He said he had tried dynamite and it was not strong enough. I agreed to sell him 20 quarts and I delivered it to a farm three miles from Albany on the road to Muncie. A month later he bought three quarts. I did not hear anything from him until a year later, when he and McManigal bought 120 quarts. When I took it to the farm they had two rigs waiting and had prepared 12 boxes in which to pack the cans. Afterwards I wrote to Clark at the address given at Peoria, but the letter was returned."

The boxes referred to by Kizer later were found in the house in Muncie, which the government charges was rented by Herbert S. Hockin, now secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. Children of the neighborhood, thinking the house vacant, entered it to play, and according to the government's charge, skated over the floors near where the explosives were stored.

John W. Ghilon, foreman of a construction company, described three explosions on the same job at Cincinnati in 1909. He said after two of the explosions Edward Clark, who has plead guilty, visited the job and said:

"If you don't put union men on there we'll fix you."

Ghilon also described two explosions on jobs in Cleveland in 1906. At one of them in September, on a railway viaduct, he said, a satchel containing 12 sticks of dynamite, fuse and a clock which evidently had been thrown out of a passing train, was found.

William H. Medley, Fall River, Mass., a police officer, told of the blowing up of a bridge across the Taunton river in April, 1908, when pieces of fuses were found.

The testimony so far has been regarded as preliminary to that to be given by McManigal and later witnesses.

ARM CAUGHT IN GIN.

Fearful Accident in Bladen—Young Man Loses Arm.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Elizabethtown, N. C., Oct. 23.—While running a cotton gin for J. H. Clark & Co., Mr. R. T. Ward got his hand caught in the saws here this afternoon and his arm was shredded to near the shoulder, before the engine could be stopped. Mr. Clark was on the scene in a few minutes, and released him from the gin. Dr. Liles reached him ere he was taken from the gin and administered all the relief possible. Dr. Norman, of Bladenboro, is here tonight to assist Dr. Liles in performing the amputation operation which is necessary. Mr. Ward's many friends will learn with sorrow of his misfortune.

ARTIST A COUNTERFEITER.

Couldn't Sell Pictures—Painted $10 Notes—Given One Year.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Louis Gagmere, who turned his talent as an artist into the painting of $10 counterfeit government notes, was sentenced today to serve one year in the United States prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., after he had admitted his guilt. He will start for prison at once. Gagmere told the court he had painted the notes so that he could support his wife and child when he found he could not sell his pictures. The Federal authorities declared the notes were so well executed that it had been difficult to discover their source.

JOHNSON WILL RETIRE.

Must Quit Saloon Business Nov. 1st, Say Chicago Officials.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Jack Johnson will retire from the saloon business in Chicago on November 1st, according to an announcement by city officials today. The saloon license under which he has been operating is owned by a brewery. Johnson's contract to use it expires on November 1st, and will not be renewed.

Because a man praises a woman's pie it does not follow that he has to eat it.

DIAZ SURRENDERS; FORCES DISARMED

pata, Aguilla and Orozco. It is presumed the government forces employed against Diaz will be concentrated upon Aguilla, who is likely to be driven back into the mountains; that the pursuit of the small bands into which Orozco's force has broken up will be resumed, and the only really serious undertaking confronting the Federal army, will be in connection with the Zapata rebellion.

The Navy Department is much pleased with the manner in which Captain Hughes, of the Des Moines, has handled the situation in Vera Cruz. He will be relieved shortly by Commander A. T. Long, who is about to leave Washington for Vera Cruz for that purpose.

HARVESTER TRIAL BEGUN.

Directors Held Office Only 24 Hours When Trust Was Organized.

New York, Oct. 23.—When the International Harvester Company, the so-called "Harvester Trust" was formed in 1902, its organization was made up of directors, some of whom held office not longer than 24 hours, according to several witnesses who testified today when hearings were begun here in the government's suit to dissolve the Harvester Company. Their connection, however, was long enough, the testimony ran, for them to aid in the purchase of independent companies which formed the combination.

One of these directors was R. E. M. Cravath, a Wall Street banker, who resigned after one day's directorship. He testified that his financial assistance to the "trust" was the purchase of the Minnie Harvester Company for nearly one million dollars, this company later passing into the control of the "trust." Abram M. Hyatt, vice president of the Lincoln Trust Company, also testified he was a director for a day only, while E. M. F. Miller, a Wall Street broker, declared he was the first president of the Harvester Company, although he had never been in the business, nor held connection with a harvester company prior to his election.

One of the witnesses said George W. Perkins suggested his election, but he did not recall who asked him to resign, while other witnesses said they could not remember who suggested either their election or resignation.

Mr. Miller said he was sure he held office as president longer than 24 hours. He had never expected, he declared, to have permanent connection with the company either as president or director.

Mr. Cravath said that when elected a director he expected to continue as a member of the board, but the very next day he was asked to resign. In purchasing the Minnie Harvester Company, he said, he did not act independently, but at the instruction of others, and that he thought he borrowed $945,000 from the Bankers' Trust Company with which to purchase the stock.

Joseph P. Cotten, Jr., a Wall Street lawyer, who said he attended to matters of detail in the incorporation of the company, testified that at a meeting of the stockholders in August 1902, he held proxies for about 99 per cent. of the shares and voted them under instruction from the voting trustees, who, he said, were George W. Perkins, Cyrus H. McCormick and Chas. Deering. It was at this meeting, the witness testified, that permanent officers and directors were elected.

SUFFRAGETTE BOUND OVER

Miss Maude Malone Under $500 Bond For Disturbing Meeting

New York, Oct. 23.—Miss Maude Malone, a suffragist who was arrested for disturbing a Democratic meeting at which Governor Wilson spoke in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, last Saturday night, was arraigned today and held in $500 bail for trial. The bail was furnished.

This is the first instance of a militant suffragette in New York being held for trial after a preliminary hearing. Similar cases in the past have been disposed of by the imposing of fines in the police courts.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 23.—Rumors that former Senator Fred T. DuBois would be appointed to succeed the late United States Senator W. B. Heyburn were silenced today by Governor Hawley, who said that DuBois would not be named. Governor Hawley has said that he probably will appoint a Democrat from Northern Idaho.

BIG ROBBERY CONFIRMED

The State Will Prosecute Accused, Although Money Was Returned

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Reports that had been current in Philadelphia for more than a year that the Union Trust Company had been robbed of $1,000,000 in securities and $30,000 in cash by an employe, were confirmed today. Governor John K. Tener, at Harrisburg, decided that so far as the State is concerned Walter H. Shourds, who is accused of appropriating the money and securities will be prosecuted, notwithstanding that restitution has been made to the trust company. The company is now known as the Merchants' Union Trust Company.

The securities, it is said, were taken from a safe deposit box rented by Mr. Burnham, who is connected with a big locomotive works in this city. Shourds is a fugitive from justice, but it is said, in view of restitution having been made, the trust company would not press the prosecution. A State law, however, demands that the commonwealth prosecute all such cases and it is expected that the district attorney, if Shourds is located, will bring him to trial as he already has been indicted.

Shourds, who was superintendent of the safe deposit vaults of the trust company, fled the country shortly before his crime was discovered. It is reported that he opened communication for the return of the securities and the money through "personals" inserted in New York, Philadelphia and Paris newspapers.

BULGARIANS TAKE KIRK KILLISSEH

Fall of Strong Fortress Opens Way to Advance on Adrianople.

TURKS ADMIT THEIR DEFEAT

Servian Forces Occupy Novipazar, Pristina, Kumanova, Kratovo And Kotschana—Christians And a Priest Massacred

London, Oct. 24.—A three days' battle and a Bulgarian turning movement has resulted, according to Sofia accounts, in the fall of Kirk Killisseh and the capture of the Turkish garrison, numbering 50,000 men. That so many Turks have been taken is regarded as improbable, and the more likely report is that the Turks retired in the direction of Bunarhissar, to the southeast.

The capture of this stronghold, to which the Turks attached almost the same importance as to Adrianople, was confirmed tonight from Constantinople in an official communication, explaining that the Turkish army at Kirk Killesseh in attempting to split the enemy's forces discovered they were in greater strength than had been anticipated. The Turks, therefore, retired to the south to await reinforcements.

Sofia, Oct. 24.—Kirk Killisseh has been captured by the Bulgarian army which has been fighting against the Turkish troops for several days. The possession of the fortress opens the way to a Bulgarian advance on Adrianople.

The Turkish garrison at Kirk Killisseh, estimated at from 5,000 to 50,000 men, surrendered to the Bulgarians. Two Turkish generals were among those captured.

Kirk Killisseh fell at 11 o'clock in the morning, according to the latest reports received tonight from Bulgarian sources, from which all news here originates. The Turkish troops fled in disorder in the direction of Bunarhissar, 14 miles to the southeast. They left a battery of quick-firing guns, 16 ammunition wagons and large quantities of ammunition and food.

When the news wase received in Sofia vast crowds bearing the flags of all the allied States formed processions and marched to the Greek, Servian, Russian and British legations, the palace and the military club. In front of each the National anthem was sung and cheers were given.

A party of boy scouts headed one of the processions and the Greek minister was carried through the streets on the shoulders of some of the enthusiastic demonstrators. Church bells were rung and the whole city was hung with flags. Masses will be celebrated throughout the kingdom tomorrow for the Bulgarians who have fallen in the fighting and thanksgiving services for the success of the Bulgarian arms.

Servians Occupy Kumanova

Belgrade, Oct. 24. — Official announcement was made here tonight that the Servian forces have occupied Novinpazar, Pristina, Kumanova, Kratovo and Kotschana.

Detachments of the Servian army entered Kumanova this afternoon after silencing the Turkish batteries. The fighting around that town lasted three days.

Turks Try to Minimize Defeat

Constantinople, Oct. 24.—A Turkish defeat east of Tunja in the Kirk Killisseh district is now admitted here. An attempt is made, however, to minimize its importance by representing it as an unsuccessful Turkish offensive movement which owed its failure to the detachment having encountered the main body of the Bulgarian army.

The Bulgarians apparently left a covering force in front of Adrianople and attempted to work to the rear to menace the communications with Constantinople. An advance Turkish column, commanded by Mahmout Mukhtar Pacha, son of the Grand Vizier, attempted a surprise attack, but as the enemy was infinitely superior in strength, the attack was not pushed home and the Turkish troops retired in good order to positions further south.

It is not clear where the next Bulgarian attack will be delivered, but the next two days should witness an active battle.

There is much elation here at what is described as a splendid victory over the Servians at Kumanova. Officials of the war office went so far tonight as to express the feeling that the Servians need no longer be reckoned with.

Athens, Oct. 24.—The King and Queen left yesterday aboard the royal yacht for Volo, Thessaly and from there will go to Larissa. The King will proceed to the town of Servia, which has just been taken by the Greek forces.

Seventy Christians Murdered

Washington, Oct. 24.—Seventy Christians and a priest were massacred by the Turks before their retreat from the town of Servia yesterday, according to an official cable from the Greek foreign office to the Greek legation here today. Among the prisoners taken was one Turkish colonel.

DEFINITION OF A DEMOCRAT

Must Vote for Party's Nominees Only And None In Opposition to the Ticket, Says State Executive Committee

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—After a session continuing until past midnight and in which one series of proposed resolutions was voted down and a flood of new ones offered, following an unsuccessful motion to adjourn, the State Democratic Executive Committee tonight adopted the following resolutions by A. W. McLean, of Robeson, as interpreting the meaning of "Democratic Ticket" required by the State convention rules to be voted in order to permit an elector to vote in the primaries for United States Senator.

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the committee the words 'Democratic Ticket' as used in the fourth and tenth rules governing the Senatorial primary, adopted by the State convention, shall be construed to permit any elector who shall have voted for nominees of the Democratic party only and who shall not have voted for any candidate on any ticket in opposition to the Democratic ticket, to vote in the Senatorial primary."

This takes the place of the noted Hackett resolution formerly adopted by the committee and repealed at this meeting. The Hackett resolution raised a storm of protest as being too iron-clad in that it required that to vote in the Senatorial primary an elector must vote the entire Democratic ticket, National, State, Legislative, county and township.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—The State Democratic Executive Committee was called to order at 8:45 o'clock and 49 were found to be present in person and by proxy.

Chairman C. A. Webb stated the purpose as being to modify the "so-called" Hackett resolution defining "Democratic ticket," in qualifying electors to vote in the United States Senatorial primary. He said that over 500 letters and telegrams were in his office from Democrats in every quarter of the State, appealing for some modification of the requirement that "Democratic ticket" must mean every name, from President to township constable. Chairman Webb said he believed that no State chairman has ever had to contend with so many contending interests and dissensions as he is contending with in this campaign, and he appealed for modification tonight in friendly and fraternal manner, setting an example of united and cordial action.

A resolution by A. D. Watts repeated the Hackett resolution and then R. H. Hayes offered the resolution that Chairman Webb had submitted to members of the committee and which he desired should be put through. It requires votes for President, Congressmen, members of the Legislature, and the elector must vote for at least three-fourths of the others on the ticket, including Governor, and no votes cast for any opposing candidates.

L. L. Smith, of Gates county, offered the following substitute for the Hayes resolution:

"Resolved, That in the judgment of

BECKER GUILTY IN THE FIRST DEGREE

Will Be Sentenced Oct. 30th. for Instigating Rosenthal Murder

VERDICT GIVEN AT MIDNIGHT

Mrs. Becker Swoons When It is Announced, But Convicted Husband Doesn't Flinch—McIntyre Will Take an Appeal.

New York, Oct. 25.—Police Lieut. Charles Becker was found guilty tonight of murder in the first degree by the jury which has been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. The verdict was pronounced at 12:02 o'clock this morning.

The verdict read: "Murder in the first degree," and was pronounced exactly at midnight. Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until October 30th.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room ,fell in a swoon when the verdict was announced.

Becker did not flinch when he heard the verdict pronounced by Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but added beyond this he had nothing to say.

The 12 jurors with solemn faces and measured steps filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A moment later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room and for a moment Becker took a side seat.

As he waited he scanned with anxious eyes the faces of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed.

At 11:57 o'clock Justice Goff entered the court room and bowing low to counsel, took his seat. The jury roll was called. The clerk then asked the jurors if they had reached a verdict.

"We have," announced Foreman Skinner. The jury arose to its feet. "We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment," Mr. Skinner said slowly and evenly, looking squarely at Justice Goff.

"Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree as charged in the indictment?" asked the clerk.

"We do," the foreman replied.

The court then directed that the roll of the jurors be called for their individual verdicts. As he repeated the question, "Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree as charged?" each juror answered, "I do."

Becker stood at the bar with squared shoulders, head erect. Not a muscle moved in his face, but he swallowed hard. That was all. When the last juror had answered, Justice Goff instructed the clerk to take the defendant's pedigree. Becker answered the questions in a low, firm voice. A court officer brought the questions to him, written on a slip of paper and as the prisoner read them to himself he replied: "Forty-two years old. American citizen, born in Germany, address 3239 Audobon avenue; lieutenant of police; married, Protestant; mother living; habits temperate; never convicted before."

When Becker's voice died away, Mr. McIntyre who had covered his face with his hands when the verdict was given, rose and asked that all further proceedings be deferred for one week, "until I can prepare the proper motions for appeal."

"I will defer sentence," announced Justice Goff, "until October 30th, and remand the prisoner until that date."

Justice Goff spoke in the same low tone of voice, almost a whisper, that had characterized his utterances during the trial.

Becker gave a fleeting glance at the judge and rested his eyes for a moment on the jury. Then he turned and, followed by a jail warden, walked with unfaltering, rapid step up the aisle of the court room and disappeared through the door leading over the "Bridge of Sighs" to the Tombs.

The jury had deliberated nearly eight hours before reaching the verdict, although the case had been in their hands since 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Actual deliberation began at 4:07 o'clock, when the doors of the jury room swung behind them on their return from luncheon.

What happened behind those doors, how the debate ebbed and flowed, who stood out eight hours against the final verdict, how ballots were cast, these were matters to whose secrecy each juror was pledged.

While the jury was making up its mind, absolute stillness heightened by the midnight quiet of the streets, prevailed in the court room.

After the verdict was given, no one was allowed to leave the room until the jury had filed out.

Two hundred persons or more gathered at the court room door.

With her ear almost at the keyhole sat the prisoner's wife. As the jurors left the room by another exit, the door flew open and a man rushed excitedly into the corridor. The crowd gave way. He was half way down the steps to the telephone booth when a policeman shouted: "What's the verdict?"

The fleeing man looked over his shoulder. "Guilty!" he shouted.

For a moment there was silence;

The statement by Hooker, filed in compliance with the campaign publicity law requiring a publication of financial affairs 10 days before election, is the first complete statement to come from any of the three principal parties. It embraces all receipts and disbursements from July 1st, marking the first activities of the Progressive party up to October 17th. The Republican and Democratic statements will be filed at Washington Saturday, according to announcements from the respective committees today.

DEFENDS VETO OF TARIFF MEASURES

President Gives His Reasons in Letter to Hardware Manufacturers.

BELIEVES IN TARIFF BOARD

Taft Declares Scientific and Impartial Conclusions Necessary—Ways and Means Committee Hurried, He Says.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 24.—President Taft defended his vetoes of the tariff measures in the last Congress in a letter to the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association and the National Hardware Association, which was read at today's session of the joint convention of these bodies. It read in part:

"I am very glad to send a message of greeting to the members of the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association and the National Hardware Association on the occasion of their annual joint convention. One of the members of your association wrote me the other day that what this country needs most is industrial peace. There can be no such peace in the absence of National prosperity, and I am glad to believe that the members of your association are doing their full share to welcome the prosperity which is just at our door by maintaining our present economic business basis and by the encouragement of business expansion and progress through legitimate use of capital.

"I am a firm believer in a tariff board or tariff commission. I don't contend that the tariff can be taken out of politics in the sense that it will never be made the subject of political controversy. Men differ radically as to the economical wisdom of a protective tariff or a tariff for revenue only, and that must always be the subject of industrial discussion. But there is a means to taking the ascertainments of facts away from a tribunal like the Ways and Means Committee, which is necessarily hurried in its conclusions and necessarily lacking in the thoroughness and temper which are essential to reach impartial conclusions.

"Probably no industries affected by the tariff need scientific and impartial conclusions more than those which are represented in your convention. In my message of August 14th, last, returning to the Congress without my approval the bill to revise the metals schedule, I pointed out that in this schedule iron and steel as primary products, are less than one-third in value of the subject matter covered by the schedule. I presented a table showing that included in the metals schedule are 59 allied industries of sufficient importance to justify separate classification, study and report by the Census Bureau. I pointed out further that foundry and machine shop products, which are secondary produ ts of the iron and steel industry, are made by more than 13,000 competing establishments with an invested capital of more than a billion and a half dollars, with more than half a million wage earners employed, and producing nearly a billion and a quarter dollars in value of products annually.

"I vetoed the bill which would have spelled ruin to many of us, because I was unwilling to approve legislation which vitally affected not only millions of workingmen and the families dependent on them, but hundreds of millions of dollars worth of stocks of goods in the hands of store keepers and distributors generally, without first providing for a careful and disinterested inquiry into the conditions of the whole industry.

"And so, I say, we must not make legitimate business the football of politics. We must have investments from which to secure a large wages fund, which is needed to support the wage earners. We must inspire in the business men who control those investments the confidence that they will not be driven out of business."

MARSHALL IN OREGON.

Says Political Parties Are Using Methods of Roman Leaders.

Albany, Ore., Oct. 24.—Governor Marshall, of Indiana, in a speech here today asserted that the political parties which attempted to use the methods of ancient Roman leaders in handling the American people surely would bring disaster upon the government of the United States.

"Bread and circuses were the two things that the Roman leaders used to keep the people in line," said Governor Marshall, "and today in this supposedly advanced political age, we find two of the big political parties in this country using the same old bread and circuses in their efforts to get control of you people."

Governor Marshall said that over-capitalized political leaders were becoming as great a menace to the welfare of the country as over-capitalized corporations.

SAYS DEFENDANT CONFESSED

Ed Lehman Declared He Killed "Scab" in Grabow Labor Riot, According to Witness—State Will Likely Close Today.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 24.—"They have the wrong man in jail. I did the dirty work. I killed that ..... scab." Thus L. T. Mabrey, late State organizer for Texas of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers, now a detective, quoted Ed Lehman, one of the defendants in the Grabow murder case in his testimony this afternoon. Lehman, the witness said, was standing in front of the Arcade Theatre in Lake Charles, talking about the Grabow labor riot, then 10 days old, when he made the statement. A few minutes later he was arrested and taken to jail. Mabrey said he was a millwright and sawfiler and had worked at his trade in mills all over the South.

He has been a detective several months. He joined the Brotherhood of Timber Workers at Deridder, La., in July, 1911. In May, 1912, Mabrey said he attended a timber workers convention in Alexandria and served as inner guard. The proceedings were secret. William D. Haywood and Covington Hall attended as representatives of the Industrial Workers of the World. Emerson and Lehman, of the defendants, were there. Mabrey declared the speakers advised tampering with machines, loosening bolts, carrying off nuts, cutting belts, sawing logs short, driving spikes in them, and dropping emery dust in the bearings, in general, putting the machinery in unfriendly saw mills "on strike."

"Who advised that?" asked the district attorney.

"Haywood spoke of it first, then Lehman advised it. Haywood also suggested that local lodges be urged to adopt these tactics:" replied Marbrey.

Continuing, the witness said he was in Lake Charles about the middle of July after the Grabow outbreak. He met Lehman in front of the Arcade Theatre. It was then he made the statement about the riot.

Witness said he remarked: "If you boys had plenty of guns you would have played h.. with them, wouldn't you?"

"Oh, we had plenty of guns," was Lehman's answer, said the witness, but lacked ammunition.

The State probably will close tomorrow.

ARGUMENTS CONCLUDED

Over Validity of Indictment of Men For Running Cotton "Corner"

Washington, Oct. 24.—Arguments over the validity of the indictment of James Patten and others on charges of conspiracy to run a corner in cotton on the New York exchange in 1910, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, were concluded today before the Supreme Court of the United States. Attorneys for the defendants contended themselves with brief discussions in support of the action of the lower court in quashing several counts of the indictment. Solicitor General Bullitt concluded with a summary of his argument of yesterday.

Just a Little Way Over the Hill Stands The Goal—Team Workers Exhorted to Activity—Boys And Girls

Help Wilmington win with Wilson! Just a little way over the hill stands the coveted goal of the Committee of One Hundred who have undertaken to raise $10,000 in Wilmington to finance the campaign of a People's President.

Yesterday the popular contributions swept over the $6,000 mark and a number of conditional subscriptions are almost available. The summit of the hill has been reached and the goal is just on the other side. The committees, or at least a majority of them, are forging slowly, steadily forward and success is now assured if the people of Wilmington will do their part. Team workers who have heretofore displayed little or no activity are exhorted by Chairman W. A. McGirt to get busy now on the last lap. Personal appeals have been sent to nearly all of them. Will they rally to the standard on this final lap of the journey? That depends upon results reported today and tomorrow. The eyes of the State—and several States for that matter—are on Wilmington. Witness the editorial appearing in yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer and printed on the editorial page of today's Star. Higher tribute could come from no man than National Committeeman Josephus Daniels, who is one of the leaders at headquarters.

Boys and girls could help in this work. Their aid is earnestly desired by Chairman McGirt and they may work for any team they desire. The young folks wield a wonderful influence over the grown-ups and right now they may come to the aid of their party by doing a little "missionary work" for Wilson after school or business hours.

Yesterday the campaign was not as vigorously pressed as on some other days, but nearly a hundred dollars were secured with several teams making no report at all.

Mr. J. H. Hinton, proprietor of The Orton and one of Wilmington's real progressive citizens who is spending more money in his town than perhaps any other one individual, led the town yesterday and City Attorney Herbert McClammy was second with a contribution of $10. The ladies scored heavily with their contributions to Mr. J. Laurence Sprunt's team, Mrs. George Honnet having contributed $5 and Mrs. V. G. Empie $5. Others also contributed and today even larger returns may be expected from the ladies, who are manifesting a lively interest in a real, simon-pure, Wilsonian Democrat.

The following contributions had been reported last night:

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 24.—With addresses by Mayor Grace, President Herbert Gorwin and others, the semi-annual convention of the North Carolina Pine Association opened here today. Lumbermen from the Carolinas and Virginias are attending in large numbers. A banquet tonight was the principal social entertainment, with an address on the Panama Canal by Owen M. DEFINITION OF A DEMOCRAT

this committee all electors who in the coming election vote the Democratic National, State, Congressional, Legislative, County and Township tickets, shall have the right to vote in the Senatorial primary, and no voter who may want, for personal reasons, to vote for every name on this ticket except Legislative ticket, shall thereby be disqualified from voting in the Senatorial primaries, provided he does not vote in opposition to any regular Democratic candidate.

Travis advocated the Hayes resolution as acceptable to the friends of the three candidates for Senator.

A. W. McLean, of Robeson, declared his advocacy of the Smith resolution, claiming that the Hayes resolution was not a sufficient departure from the objectionable Hackett resolution.

He questioned the claim that the three Senatorial candidates had really agreed to the Hayes resolution. He affirmed that Manager S. L. Rogers, of the Simmons campaign, is maintaining his original attitude that he will be perfectly satisfied with whatever the State committee adopts.

A. D. Watts stated for Senator Simmons that he has no suggestion to make to the committee, and wants the committee to take whatever action is deemed best for the party in the State, without reference to Senatorial candidates.

A general discussion of the pending resolutions followed, with R. H. Hayes, L. L. Smith, A. W. McLean, R. H. Hackett and E. L. Travis as the principal participants.

Mr. Hackett offered a resolution declaring that it is the sense of the committee that it has no power to change the action of the State convention as to qualification for electors in the Senatorial primary. On this as a substitute for the pending resolutions, the previous question was called, but not sustained.

Mr. Warren introduced a resolution prescribing that "Democratic Ticket" means voting National, State legislative tickets and substantially the county and the township tickets and that no elector who votes for any candidates on the opposition tickets shall be permitted to vote in the Senatorial primary.

Edgar Love offered a resolution that declared the rules of the State convention plain enough but expressing the opinion of the committee that the judges of the election should permit votes for Senator where the Democratic ticket in the main has been voted without voting for any opposition candidates.

Finally, the previous question was called by Mr. Hayes, who accepted the Smith resolution as a substitute for his and then both accepted the Warren resolution as a substitute for both. In the stir that followed while the vote was pending, Smith withdrew his acceptance of the Warren resolution. Pete Murphy got in a resolution allowing anybody to vote who would vote the Democratic legislative ticket and voted no ticket in opposition to the Democratic ticket. This was voted down 29 to 10. The Love resolution was lost 20 to 29. The Hackett resolution went down without roll call. The Smith and the Hayes resolution merged into the Warren resolution and all three went down 24 to 22. This left the committee without anything before it. Chairman Webb appealed that something should be done. Motions to adjourn were lost.

Then there poured in nearly a dozen resolutions of varying types, the Smith resolution slightly changed, was voted down again. The Love resolution with some modification was defeated, as were resolutions by Mr. Kirkpatrick and Mr. Collins and the McLean resolution went through 31 to 20, finally settling the matter. The committee adjourned at 12:15.

STUDIES CANNED EGGS.

Supreme Court Looks Into Decomposition of 1910 Hen Fruit.

Washington, October 24.—Four hundred and forty-three cans of frozen eggs of the vintage of 1910 occupied the attention today of the Supreme Court of the United States. The members of that tribunal were engaged in determining whether the eggs were decomposed.

Ralph S. Rounds, attorney for the claimant of the eggs, argued that the eggs were not "decomposed," within the meaning of the Pure Food law, and told the court that the case was the most important of all five pure food cases which had come before it for consideration, because it would decide whether the Pure Food law was to be interpreted according to the view of the "Young men in the Department of Agriculture or according to common sense."

He said that the common sense way of interpreting the law was to give the word "decomposed" the meaning of "unwholesomely decomposed," and not make the decomposition depend upon the number of bacillus that could be counted in an egg.

Members of the court manifested an interest in the rudimentary fact about eggs, in addition to the questions of law.

Mr. Rounds informed the court that there were four grades of eggs—"current use," "seconds," "chicks" and "spots."

"Do you mean to say that there are four grades of strictly fresh eggs?" inquired Justice Holmes. His confidence in eggs was restored by a negative answer.

The attorney exclaimed that the government first charged that the product was filthy, decomposed or putrid," but now only claim that it was "decomposed."

"You say that is all that is charged?" asked Justice Vandeventer, with a decided emphasis on the "all."

The court will continue its study of the egg tomorrow.

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The "Dear Food" riots increased in violence today when 2,000 women raided a butcher shot in the Wedding district, demolished the premises and stole the meat. The manager was seriously injured. All the other butchers shops in the districts have been barricaded. The police have been ordered out in strong force as the district in the north of Berlin has on previous occasions been the scene of violent disturbances.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Three Games Scheduled to Be Played At Boys' Brigade Armory

Followers of basketball are all excitement over the games to be played tonight at the Boys' Brigade in the Friday Night League. There will be three games. One between the Cardinals and Company A, another between the Y. M. C. A. Seniors and the Eagles, and the third between Company B and the Y. M. C. A. Juniors. All the games will be fast and clean as every team has been working out daily this week and all are in fine condition.

The Cardinals are anxious to win tonight over Company A, and if they do so will have much credit due them, as Company A team is fast and full of ginger and can play from the start to the finish without letting up for a minute. The Cardinals are also in the pink of condition and are going into the game to play for all they are worth to win.

There will be some changes in the Y. M. C. A. team which will materially strengthen it, and the boys will be in good condition to give a good account of themselves. They have not gotten started yet but when they round into condition they will make all the other teams look to their laurels. The Eagles will also be stronger than in their first game and are determined to redeem themselves for the overwhelming defeat suffered last week at the hands of the Cardinals.

But the most "classy" game of the evening will be that between the Y. M. C. A. Juniors and Company B. Both teams are great in all departments of the game and they are so evenly matched that whenever they meet it is a toss up as to which is going to win. The team work, passing of the ball, good generalship, cool judgment and accurate goal-throwing of both teams is such as to place them in a class with the best in this game. Their style is open and clean and is such as to keep the spectators in a constant state of excitement and admiration.

Doubtless a great crowd will assemble to witness the games tonight. The first game will begin at 8 o'clock and the playing will continue without intermission, except to change teams, for one hour and forty-five minutes. Last Friday about 50 ladies were present and it is thought that this number will be increased tonight. There is no charge for admission to these games and adult public is cordially invited to be present and enjoy the sport which is in store. Mr. Chas. Dushan will referee all the games this Winter at the request of all the teams. The scorer and timekeeper will be chosen just prior to the game tonight.

Elector Hood Making Canvass

Mr. E. A. Hawes, of Atkinson, spent last night in the city and stated that Hon. Geo. E. Hood, Democratic elector from the Third Congressional district, spoke to a large and enthusiastic gathering of ladies and gentlemen there yesterday afternoon. He was at Roseboro last night. Mr. Hawes states that the party affairs are in splendid shape in his precinct and that it has the distinction of having not a Republican in it. There is one "Bull Moose," but he is not demonstrative and will hardly count in the shower of Democratic ballots that will take place on November 5th.

Will Include Wilmington.

The Chamber of Commerce has received from the editor of the Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore, a request for facts and figures relative to the port of Wilmington to be used in the special edition of the journal to be published in February. The special edition will be in the interest of "The South: The Nation's Greatest Asset." The publication will also secure photographs of the harbor and probably of some of the factories and business houses.

Little One Laid to Rest

In the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, the funeral of Rosetta Morris, the 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morris, of Lumberton, who died in this city Wednesday morning, was held from Acorn Branch Methodist church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. L. Rexford, pastor of Bladen Street Methodist church. The interment was in the church graveyard.

RESUMES WORK TODAY.

Col. Roosevelt Much Better and Gets Out of Bed.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 24.—From morning till night Col. Roosevelt was up and fully dressed today, walking unassisted about the house. It was the first time since he was shot that he had been out of bed long at a time, but he felt so much better after two days' rest at home that he refused to stay upstairs in his room another day.

He put on his khaki riding suit and surprised his family by appearing in the living room and saying he was going to have luncheon with the others.

Col. Roosevelt was so much better that the physicians who have been coming from New York to care for his wound thought it unnecessary to make the trip today. Dr. Scurry L. Terrell, the colonel's personal physician, and Dr. George W. Fuller, of Oyster Bay, spent a few minutes with their patient in the morning and again later in the day and found that his condition was improving steadily. The most marked change was his increased strength and vitality. He spent most of the day in his library, but attempted little work. In spite of his improved condition, he found that he was far from having his usual strength and in the afternoon he became fatigued and slept for two hours.

Tomorrow Col. Roosevelt expects to resume work. He sent word to his secretary today to be on hand in the morning and hopes to spend several hours in dictating letters and a part of the speech he expects to deliver in New York next week. His wound is to be examined tomorrow afternoon by Dr. Alexander Lambert, of New York.

For a time this afternoon Col. Roosevelt talked literature with Robert Collier, Finley Peter Dunn and Mark Sullivan, of New York.

New York, Oct. 24.—Representative Robert L. Henry, of Texas, chairman of the Rules Committee of the House, announced here today that in his formal statement of campaign expenses sent to Washington he had certified that he "did not spend a cent, either in the primary or the general election campaign."

SMITH AT PRINCETON

Senator Speaks at Rally and Is Guest Of Governor Wilson

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 24.—Governor Wilson had as his guest today Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who tonight made a speech in Alexander Hall before the students of Princeton University.

The Governor was anxious to hear Senator Smith and was greatly tempted to attend the meeting, but feared his presence in the audience might force a speech and he might find himself violating his intention of keeping off the stump until Colonel Roosevelt has resumed campaigning.

The Governor gave out for publication telegrams, one of which he sent to a rally at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and the other to a Western newspaper which was issuing a harvest edition.

"We all worship at the shrine of King Corn," read the latter telegram. "He is in a sense the master of our lives and fortunes. His storehouse of golden grain is a great part of our treasury as well as of our means of life. If the whole country could every year realize, if only on a single day, the vital fibres that connect it with the farm, the many things that lie hidden in the furrows of the field we should no doubt think more than we do now and think to better purpose about the effect of a National policy and of all plans of National development upon the farmer and the workers in the open countries. We need the enlightenment of such thoughts."

In his telegram to Wesleyan, where he was once an instructor, the Governor wired Professor Robert H. Fife, as follows:

"My warm greetings to my Wesleyan friends assembled in Democratic rally this evening. It is delightful and reassuring to see the young men of the country gathering to champion the cause of free government as against special interests."

ADMIRAL CHAGIN SUICIDES

Commander of Russian Emperor's Yacht Takes Own Life

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—Rear Admiral Chagin, commander of the Emperor of Russia's yacht Standart, committed suicide at his residence yesterday. Members of Admiral Chagin's family declared later in the day that his suicide was due to a love affair. Current rumors attribute Rear Admiral Chagin's suicide to remorse over the illness of Crown Prince Alex, which is reported to have been the result of an accident while the little prince was aboard the Standart. It is said that the crown prince injured himself while imitating sailors diving, although it is positively affirmed that he slipped and fell in his bath.

Admiral Chagin killed himself with a rifle. He left a note on the table saying: "I ask that no one shall be accused of my death."

He was a great favorite with the royal family. He led the Russian naval detachment at the relief of Peking and commanded the cruiser Almaz at the battle of Tsushima.

CALLS ON MOTORISTS.

Gasoline Baptists Could Support a Missionary, Says Rev. J. T. Love.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 24.—"Every Baptist who owns a motor car is able to support a missionary," J. T. Love, of Dallas, Texas, told the delegates to the Missouri Baptist General Association, here, today. "The cost of maintaining a motor car," the Texan continued, "is much more than the cost of maintaining a preacher in the less settled districts of this State.

"Unless these gasoline Baptists come to the assistance of the cause, we may not expect to make material progress as rapidly as we should."

A committee is to be appointed to get into communication with motor-car owners, to see if Dr. Love's suggestion is practical.

SAD DEATH AT ATKINSON.

Miss Mae Lewis Passes Away After Attack of Typhoid Fever.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Atkinson, N. C., Oct. 24.—Atkinson grieves over the death of Miss Mae Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis, who passed away early Wednesday morning of typhoid fever. She was 18 years old and had finished at the Atkinson High School, later completing her education at Oxford Seminary and the East Carolina Teachers' Training School at Greenville, N. C. She had just taken a position in the Cerro Gordo graded school and had taught only two weeks when she was attacked by typhoid fever and was brought home. She was attended by the family physician, Dr. Hoggard, Drs. Bradford, of Burgaw, and Wood, of Wilmington, but in spite of all efforts she succumbed to her illness. She was unusually bright and talented, numbering her friends by the score.

The funeral was held from the Baptist church this morning at 10 o'clock and interment was in the village cemetery. The services were by Rev. Mr. Rivenbark, assisted by Rev. E. B. Carr, of the Presbyterian church. The pallbearers were Messrs. C. D. Murphy, T. A. Smith, Dallas Flynn, M. C. Cobb, T. S. Teague, E. A. Hawes, Jr. The High School here suspended exercises and many handsome floral designs were in evidence attesting the love and esteem in which the young lady was held in the community. The church was filled with sorrowing friends and many who tendered deepest sympathy to those bowed down so deeply in sorrow.

UNDER CIVIL SERVICE.

Department Ready to Place Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Plans for the administration of the executive order of President Taft placing all fourth class postmasters under civil service were announced today.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has divided the 36,236 offices affected into two classes, A and B. Class A will embrace all postoffices at which the compensation of postmasters is $500 a year or more; while class B will include offices at which the compensation is less than $500.

Appointments to all class A offices will be made from three names certified by the Civil Service Commission after competitive examination of the applicants. Vacancies in all class B offices will be filled on the recommendation of postoffice inspectors after personal investigation. This method has been followed in several States with success.

The order of the President now is in effect and the Civil Service Commission is ready to hold examinations to create lists of eligibles. Hereafter, all vacancies in the postmasterships of fourth-class offices will be filled without regard to the political affiliations of the applicants.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has recommended that all postmasters, irrespective of class, be placed under civil service.

MAMMOTH DRAINAGE PROJECT

Celebration of Opening In Robeson County—Thirty-three Thousand Acres of Land to Be Reclaimed—Exercises

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Maxton, N. C., Oct. 24.—Yesterday Miss Evelyn Sellers broke a bottle of Lumber river water on the dipper of the huge yard and a half dredge now working day and night in Back Swamp and thus united the waters of Back Swamp and Lumber river, by which token, work on the great Robeson county drainage project was officially begun and the dredge officially christened the Q. L. Clark.

The occasion was the clebration of the commencement of work on the 56 miles of canals designed to drain Back, Jacob's and other tributary swamps into Lumber river and thus to reclaim 33,000 acres of land in the heart of North Carolina's most fertile county. Some 500 of her most progressive citizens were there and men and women pushed into the very heart of the swamp to personally inspect the work and thus to learn the practical side of drainage.

The work is not only a North Carolina project but is being executed by a North Carolina firm, the Brett Engineering and Contracting Co., of Wilson. The big dredge worked smoothly and satisfied all that it could fulfill everything that it had undertaken. It is an enormous machine floating on a flat boat 75 feet long and 18 feet wide. In front extends a steel beam 45 feet long that weighs five tons. Through this the dipper handle works up and down. The handle is run out through this, plunging the dipper under water and on the bottom of the canal. The hoisting engine then pulls the dipper forward and up against the solid earth ahead filling it. As it rises from the water the swinging engine begins swinging the beam to right or left and with a roar of exhausts three or four tons of soil are rushed 40 feet from the center of the canal to the end of the beam and dropped from a height of 20 feet. Simultaneously, almost, the dipper is snatched back and the beam swung to its former position and as it swings the dipper handle is released, the hoisting engine is reversed and the great dipper at the end of the handle, describing an arc, dropped back with a mighty splash and commotion into the water where it poises for a moment and then as the hoisting engine begins to pull springs to the attack again, tearing out another dipper full of dirt, a stump or a log whichever may be in its way.

From the dredge the spectators turned to see an exhibition of how stumps are shot with dynamite to save pulling them with the dipper and saw a large stump torn out of the ground and thrown high into the air by five sticks of 40 per cent dynamite.

The speaking took place out on the hill some distance from the swamp. Hon. Jos. A. Brown, of Chadbourn; Hon. Oscar L. Clark, of Clarkton, and Geo. R. Boyd, of Wilson, addressed the gathering. All the speakers being introduced by Hon. G. B. Patterson, of Maxton.

The drainage of Back and Jacob's swamps is the largest drainage project so far inaugurated under the State drainage law. It was first agitated some three years ago by J. B. Sellers, G. B. Sellers, Geo. Willard and Rory McNair, of Maxton, and D. B. McNeill, of Lumberton, who provided the funds to meet first cost. Through their efforts the government was persuaded to put a party of engineers on the work to make surveys and estimates. It was found that by cutting 56 miles of canals some 33,000 acres of exceptionally fertile soil could be reclaimed at a cost of $150,000. Owners of land in the watershed voted to issue bonds in this sum and the work was let this Summer. The bonds were sold to an Ohio bond house and are reported to have brought better than par. The board of drainage commissioners is composed of Major G. B. Sellers, of Maxton, chairman; A. W. Pate, of Pates, vice chairman, and D. B. McNeill, of Lumberton, as secretary.

Editor Harris, of the Charlotte Observer, and Editor Sharpe, of the Robesonian, were Maxton's guests today, taking in the drainage celebration of the work being done in Back and Jacob's swamps reclamation.

BOND AT DURHAM.

Eloquent East Carolinian Speaks to Large Audience in Bull City.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Oct. 23.—Mr. W. H. Bond, the prominent lawyer of Edenton, spoke in the court house last night to a good-sized audience in behalf of Senator Simmons, and those who heard him learned why he is called the silver tongue orator of Eastern Carolina. He began his speech by speaking of his acquaintance and friendship with all three Senatorial candidates, declaring that personally he cared as much for Kitchin and Clark as he did for Simmons, but that Simmons alone was the man for the place. He then proceeded to show why the other two candidates should be eliminated from consideration and Simmons be elected. He gained momentum as he proceeded, and, although he began in an impressive, dignified style, he soon departed from it, and waxed enthusiastic and even salacious before he brought his speech to an end, about 11 o'clock.

A. & M. TEAM SHAKE-UP.

Techs. Will Present Strong Front Before Davidson Saturday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—Tomorrow the A. & M. football team will leave for Charlotte where the squad will meet the strong Davidson team on Saturday afternoon. Although the Techs expect to defeat the Presbyterians, they will have to put up a pretty strong fight, as Davidson has a fast team this year, according to the scores in the games already played.

There has been a general shake-up in the A. & M. team since the decisive defeat administered by Georgetown last Thursday, and there will be seen some changes in the general line-up and with a week of hard work the coaches have been busy remedying the weak points which have been in evidence since the beginning of the season. The weakest points have been the back field and right end. The right end position, which was held by "Dutch" Seifert for the past four years, is left vacant this year, and Coach Green has been trying out several men to fill this position, among whom are Jeffries and Davis, who have been on the scrubs for two years, and Champion and O. S. Anthony, two new men. All these are making a hard fight for the position, and the coach should be able to pick a good man from among these to strengthen the position. Also there has been a lack of good interference so far, and the coaches have been giving the men special attention along that line.

Osborne, who has been showing up so well at fullback, and who is one of the fastest men on the team, did not get in the Georgetown game on account of an injury to his knee, but he is now out again, and will be in good condition for the Davidson game. Cool, Anthony, Hargrove, Jaynes, Hudson and Spencer, the other backfield men, are all in first class condition, as are also the two quarterbacks, Page and Rice. There have bee nseveral shifts in the line, which is now the strongest point in the team. Big Sykes, who weighs 225 pounds, has been shifted to center. Porter, who weighs about 180 pounds, and who has had two years' experience with the scrubs, is showing up well at right guard. Cooke, a new man, weighing 178 pounds, who has come out wonderfully in the past week or two, is at left guard and will be one of the strongest men in the line. Terry, a new man, weighing about 190 pounds, and Morton, who weighs 178 pounds, are both strong men at the guard positions. At the tackles, Hurtt and McHenry have their positions cinched, being two of the best men in the line, both on the offense and defense. Hurtt weighs 171 and McHenry 188. Phillips at left end also has his position cinched, being one of the grittiest and hardest workers on the team.

Last Thursday's defeat at the hands of Georgetown, which was the first defeat A. & M. has suffered on the home grounds in nine years, and which was the largest score ever piled up against an A. & M. team, probably served to do as much good as harm. There were no injuries of any importance received during the game, and every man on the squad is putting in everything he has to help build the team up again, and are not discouraged by their defeat.

Although it has not yet been definitely decided what men will go to Charlotte on Friday morning, there will be about 13 men who will probably be picked from the following: Phillips, left end; Hurtt, left tackle; Terry and Porter, left guard; Sykes, center; Cooke and Morton, right guard; McHenry, right tackle; Champion, O. Anthony and Jeffries, right end; Page and Rice, quarterback; Cool, Jaynes, G. Anthony and Spencer, halfbacks; and Hargrove, Osborne and Hudson, fullbacks.

GODWIN NOT TAKING PART.

Highly Esteems All Three Candidates for Senatorial Honors.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Dunn, N. C., Oct. 24.—Congressman Godwin was at home a short while today, returning from a campaign tour of Columbus and Bladen counties. He goes from here to Robeson county. He was asked if he had anything to say in reference to the publication of his private letter to Mr. Fisher, of Maxton, and made the following statement: "Mr. Fisher has been for years a close personal and political friend. He wrote me asking for my opinion of the charges against Senator Simmons, and stated that my reply would be considered confidential. I answered as shown by the letter he published. But I had no idea it would be printed for, or used in a public way. What I said for Senator Simmons I would say of the record of Governor Kitchin, or Judge Clark; in fact, friends in the district have written me for the record of Governor Kitchin while he was in Congress and I have never lost an opportunity to write and speak of him in complimentary terms. I could pay the same tribute to Judge Clark in reference to his position on the Supreme Court bench. The fact that one letter was published does not mean that I am taking a hand in the fight for any candidate for I have not and I will not."

TAKING NO PART.

Governor Woodrow Wilson Not Interfering in Senatorial Contest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—State Chairman Chas. A. Webb, of the State Democratic Executive Committee, said today that his attention having been called to reports circulated in some sections of the State that Gov. Woodraw Wilson has taken or is taking part in the Senatorial contest in this State, and fearing that these reports were calculated to affect the vote for Wilson in this State, which the committee is especially desirus of being the largest ever given a Presidential candidate, wrote Governor Wilson asking for a statement as to this matter. He received the following reply signed by J. P. Tumulty, secretary to Governor Wilson:

"I discussed with Governor Wilson the stories that have appeared in your State with reference to his alleged interference in the North Carolina Senatorial situation, Gvernor Wilson said: 'I have made it a principle of action not to interfere in State contests and as a matter of course, I have not taken any part in the contests in North Carolina.' You are privileged to give this statement whatever publicity you think proper under the circumstances."

GOVERNOR GRANTS PARDONS

Two Secure Executive Clemency—Woodrow Wilson Day In North Carolina — Supreme Court Opinions—Colored Fair

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—Governor Kitchin granted today a pardon for John Pharr, Guilford county, serving eight months for carrying concealed weapon, the pardon being on recommendation of the Greensboro recorder, chief of police, the prisoner's wife who was the prosecuting witness, the pardon being conditioned on good behavior.

There is also a pardon for Lester McCauley, Orange county, who has served four of seven years for larceny. The prisoner was only 13 years old when convicted and sentenced and the pardon is recommended by the judge, solicitor, sheriff and others and is conditioned on good behavior.

State Chairman Chas. A. Webb, of the Democratic Executive Committee, will request the Senatorial candidates and their workers to have no speeches booked for November 2nd, afternoon and evening, when the great "Woodrow Wilson Day" observance will be under way with demonstrations in every precinct of every county in the State, and, indeed, throughout the United States, while Woodrow Wilson is himself addressing a great meeting in Madison Square Garden, New York. Mr. Webb wants the Senatorial fight to be lost sight of during these Wilson Day meetings so that all Democrats can come together in a spirit of harmony and good will and exert their very effort in behalf of Wilson and Marshall and the success of the Democratic ticket.

The Hope Mills Manufacturing Co., of Hope Mills, files an amendment to its charter reducing the capital from $312,000 to $200,000. J. P. Wood is president.

Formal dissolution papers for The Eagles Club, Charlotte, were filed with the Secretary of Staate today in obedience to the decree of the Superior Court dissolving the club on account of its being convicted of handling liquors in violation of the State prohibition law. The court confiscated the liquors that were seized.

Opinions were delivered this week in only seven cases by the Supreme Court: Wooten, trustee, vs. Taylor, Lenoir, affirmed; Watson & Ivey vs. Insurance Co., Cumberland, reversed; Campbell vs. R. & C. R. R. Co., Robeson, affirmed; Byrd vs. Collins, Robeson, no error; Womack vs. Carter, Lee, reversed; Seawell vs. Person, Moore, no error; Fields vs. Brown, et al., Moore, reversed.

The agricultural exhibits are the overshadowing feature of the Negro State Fair now in progress here. One old-line negro farmer, Fletcher Lockhart, who owns a 200-acre truck farm near Raleigh ,has over 200 different products in his exhibit which is especially creditable. Another extensive farm exhibit is that of S. M. R. Slade, and there are a number of other smaller and equally creditable agricultural exhibits.

Collie Davis, a well-known painter, narrowly escaped death today by falling from a 25-foot ladder onto the roof of the porch of a building on which he was working, and then rolled from the roof to the ground sustaining a broken arm and many serious bruises.

The funeral of Dr. M. M. Marshall, lamented rector emeritus of Christ Episcopal church here, was held this afternoon from the church for which he labored so long and so well. The members of the vestry served as pallbearers.

SEVEN YEARS CONFINEMENT

In Advices from Foster, Mrs. Ellis Makes Public Some Startling Statements

Foster, Ark.—"I was sick for seven years," writes Mrs. Fannie Ellis, of this place, "and half the time could not stand on my feet. I was very near death. I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and in two months I was cured and am now stout and healthy.

I was sick so long that I won the sympathy of my friends, and they all asked what cured me, for my looks are a testimonial to Cardui.

After I was cured, I didn't know but what Cardui was like so many other medicines, that is, pretend to cure for a while, but it has been two years since I have taken a dose, and I feel as well as ever.

I can walk a mile, work all day, and walk back home at night and not be much tired. Before taking Cardui I could not walk across the floor.

I cannot recommend Cardui too highly, it is a God-send to suffering women."

Thousands of women who now suffer from womanly trouble, could be relieved and benefitted, by following Mrs. Ellis' example.

Are you of this number?

If so, try Cardui today. It cannot harm you, and is almost sure to do you good.

"I am an old man—and many of my troubles never happened."—ELBERT HUBBARD

THE white hair and wrinkled faces of our busy men and women tell of doubt, fear and anxiety—more than disease or age. Worry plays havoc with the nervous system—so that digestion is ruined and sleep banished. What oil is to the friction of the delicate parts of an engine—is to the delicate organs of the body. It's a tonic and body builder—because it stimulates the liver to vigorous action, assists the stomach to assimilate food—thus enriching the blood, and the nerves and heart in turn are fed on pure rich blood. Neuralgia "is the cry of starved nerves for food." For forty years "Golden Medical Discovery" in liquid form has given great satisfaction as a tonic and blood maker.

Now it can be obtained in tablet form—from dealers in medicine or send 50 one-cent stamps for trial box. Write R. V. Pierce, Buffalo.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS Relieve constipation, regulate the liver, and bowels. Easy to take as candy.

Shoes are going up and stockings are not liable to come down if Taft is elected.

Vote the entire Democratic ticket so you can be full-fledged when Wilson becomes President.

The "doubtful States" contain a large element of men who hardly know what the election is about.

An investigation of the capital stock of the trusts shows who monopolizes the waterwagon to water their stock.

"The doctors have ordered Colonel Roosevelt to remain quiet," says an Oyster Bay dispatch. Remain?

They are still with us—the woman who has fits over a pretty tailor-made suit, and the men who goes wild over politics.

Register today. The registration books will close tomorrow evening. You can't vote next Tuesday week if you do not register.

At a political meeting in Ohio one man yelled out, "Hurrah, for Taft!" This shows that one or two of the minority are still enthusiastic.

At Pleasant Valley, Pa., a man named Peacemaker blew up a family with dynamite. There is nothing in a name, either of a place or a man.

Ninth inning, Wilson on third, Marshall on second, nobody down, and the American people at the bat. Nobody would want a better chance to score.

Subscribe to the Wilson campaign fund between now and Saturday, November 2nd. Only about a week remains in which you can make your money help to elect Wilson.

The Baltimore American (Rep.) says the Republican argument for the election of Taft is "Everybody's working." For their victuals and clothes and the enrichment of the beneficiaries of of the tariff.

A Texas chiropodist advertised: "I have removed corns from all the crowned heads of Europe." No doubt the Hon. Cone Johnson can count on his aid in removing the horns from the head of the Bull Moose.

Roosevelt's hat is in the ring and Taft is talking through his. The President says thousands of Democrats are coming to him. The only time a Democrat was ever known to come to him was when he had an office that was worth a Democrat's attention.

President Taft is the greatest optimist and golf player of the campaign. Like Cleveland, President Taft will be retired with his first term, but the President has had fewer mean things said about him than any man who has ever occupied the White House from 1861 to 1913.

Wilson is the greatest speech-maker who has been in public life within our recollection. His words are weighed and they come forth with full measure. The Democratic nominee is not only a mature thinker but a clear speaker, forcibly setting forth the fundamentals and so aptly defining the issues that they become marked and distinctive.

Having examined the head of John Schrank, who shot Colonel Roosevelt, a Washington criminologist says a man of his type is dangerous because "the distance between the zygomatic arches is relatively great," and besides "his head is brachycephalic." No doubt the doctor is absolutely correct, and it should be stated that any man with a noggin like that is liable at any time to take a fool notion to fight the whole army at Armageddon.

COLLIERS'S WEEKLY EXPLAINS

Collier's Weekly has had a great deal of advertising in North Carolina, for it has figured immensely in the Senatorial campaign. In the meantime, Collier's continues to be advertised because it has now taken up the cause of Roosevelt instead of Wilson's. It is understood that there has been a shaking up of the editors, and that the Wilson writer has had to retire, but that is liable to occur on any paper. The point of view of a paper sometimes changes with a change of editors, but not if those who own or control the paper have an established and individual policy for its editors to pursue.

The characteristics of some publications are distinctly marked because they have behind them a controlling force that is stable and certain, but if the proprietors or editors are susceptible to vagaries and impulses, the paper follows suit in the same way that a mirror reflects the man who is before it at the time. We have nothing to do with any change of view that any contemporary may undergo, for conditions and circumstances are continually altering cases. Unless we know the conditions and circumstances, therefore, we cannot speak intelligently about the reasons why Collier's has apparently changed its views about the Presidency. However, what Collier's says has become interesting in North Carolina, so we reproduce from this week's issue this editorial on "Inside Information:"

"There is but one more number of this paper to appear before election day. And each day we shall probably be asked the question: 'Is Collier's for Wilson or for Roosevelt?' Fortunately, Collier's has no vote, and, therefore, can be friendly to two candidates at once, and will have fulfilled its function in this campaign if it presents the issues fairly to its readers. Of these there are a number who have felt that our persistent championship of many reforms advocated in the Progressive platform should have led us to declare for the Bull Moose, and others still who, knowing our views on the tariff and on the regulation of monopoly, ask for an absolute declaration against Roosevelt and in favor of Wilson. Collier's, however, undertakes only to interpret fairly the character of the candidates and sincerity of the claims on which they ask election, and the problems involved as far as we can understand them. Just by way of illustration, and not because it is of any particular significance, it is probable that the editorial staff of Collier's will vote as follows:

"One of the staff will vote for Wilson because he believes Wilson's ideas on the regulation of monopoly sounder than Mr. Roosevelt's, and because he shares the Democratic candidate's convictions on the tariff.

"Two others will vote for Roosevelt because they believe the third party, entirely apart from the personality of its leader—and that leader confessedly the only man who could have welded together so powerful a party in so short a time—represents the greatest moral movement in American politics since the Civil War.

"It is for our readers to do as we are doing in this office: make choice, each person according to his lights—which is more important, to see the tariff and trust questions rightly solved, or to get behind a great new force for the rehabilitation of our politics?"

The above is to give us to understand that Collier's staff is composed of talent that is not controlled, but that each writer is a law unto itself. We take it, therefore, that one of the Roosevelt editors has now been turned loose, for the leading editorial in this same number places a high estimate upon Colonel Roosevelt as "A Man." Inevitably, in the eyes of some people, Colonel Roosevelt's personality outweighs what he stands for, but evidently Collier's also stands for what the colonel advocates. We infer that from its acknowledgment that the colonel's programme is "a great new force for the rehabilitation of our politics."

We cannot exactly reconcile Collier's position on tariff revision, monopoly and purity in politics, since on the tariff Colonel Roosevelt is a standpatter and advocates a plan which recognizes and legalizes monopoly. Unless the colonel has reformed since 1904, he is the representative of a political system which scandalized American politics with trust money to carry elections. No doubt the country would like to see "the rehabilitation of our politics," but we do not see how it can consistently look to a man who is the product of the worst politics this country ever witnessed. If the colonel was not responsible for the scandal of 1904, he was the exalted beneficiary of it and had his eyes shut to it so closely that he claims that he had "no personal knowledge of it."

We do not see how Collier's can advocate two men for President, especially when those two candidates stand for opposite fundamentals and policies. We should say that Collier's ought to stick to Wilson if it believes in tariff revision, suppression of illegal monopoly, and "the rehabilitation of our politics." It is looking for rehabilitation of a doubtful if not dangerous kind, from a source from which the least rehabilitation of a reasonable kind can be expected. We would not take Collier's for a guide, although it is its privilege to take two sides of a question.

THE RIGHT POSITION.

(Charlotte Chronicle, Oct. 22.)

The continued attack upon the official record of United States Senator F. M. Simmons made in the oft-repeated speeches of Governor W. W. Kitchin, do not change the opinions of those who understand that the motive of Mr. Kitchin is merely to appeal to a certain class of citizens who have such implicit confidence in the Chief Executive that his statements are taken either without consideration or serious thought. However, it is sometimes necessary to notice the charges for the very reason that many people will accept them as true because of the high standing of the Governor.

Recently Mr. George C. Fisher, of Maxton, wrote a letter to Congressman H. L. Godwin and asked his opinion as to the Democracy of Senator Simmons, especially in view of the charges made by Mr. Kitchin. In reply Mr. Godwin stated that he was not taking any part in the Senatorial campaign, but that he made it a rule to answer frankly every communication received from a constituent. The paragraphs in reference to Mr. Simmons and his record are very clear and are reproduced here. Mr. Godwin said:

"Answering your questions in reference to Senator Simmons, I will say that I am convinced that Senator Simmons has made a loyal and faithful Senator during his service in the Senate. I feel that he has voted on all measures coming before the Senate, in the intercst of laborers, farmers, producers and consumers of his State, and at the same time having at heart the best interest of the general industrial and commercial development of North Carolina. I have been closely in touch with the Senator in reference to many matters of legislation, in which our district has been much interested, and I have always found him conscientious and anxious to do what he could to help build up our district and State. I have no patience whatever with the charge that he is not a Democrat. While he voted, when the tariff bills were being considered, for a revenue duty on many articles which in every instance was consistent with the true principles of the Democratic party, I have no idea that he ever gave a vote which could be construed to amount to a protective or Republican duty on any article. There is no free trade party in the United States. The Democratic party believes in a tariff for revenue only, and a Senator or member of the House is sworn before he takes his seat to support the Constitution of the United States. This Constitution provides for raising revenue by a tariff on imported articles, and the Democratic party has always stood for a tariff high enough to raise money to run the government, and it is the sacred duty of a Democrat to vote for a revenue producing tariff, and as long as he stays within the bounds of a Democratic tariff he should not be criticised by members of his own party. He should be criticized only when he exceeds the revenue-producing basis and votes for a protective duty which is advocated by the Republican party."

In this statement Congressman Godwin is playing the part of a manly man. He clearly states facts and without fear of resultant injury to either his personal success or his personal standing in the district which has honored him and will continue to honor him. The charges brought against Mr. Simmons are ridiculous to speak mildly, and as the campaign continues the people will see that the charges are brought for the sole purpose of securing sufficient votes, if possible, to satisfy the ambition of a candidate that longs to continue longer in public life as a public servant and in no sense are these charges based upon real interest in the success of either the Democratic party or the great mass of people of the State. (advertisement.)

THE WILSON DOCTRINE.

Governor Wilson has the keen faculty of saying things in a way that sends the question home. He can deliver a classic or send in a thrust with telling effect. Speaking about the partnership between Big Business and the Republican government, Governor Wilson says of the tariff:

"The trouble with the tariff is not that it is protective, for in recent years it has been much more than protective, but because it has been one of the most colossal systems of deliberate patronage that has ever been conceived. * * * This patronage, this special privilege, these favors doled out to some persons and not to all, have been the basis of the control which has been set up over the industries and over the enterprises of this country by great combinations."

Protection is the agreement in the partnership and it is responsible for creating the huge and enormously capitalized trusts which are powerful enough to shut out competition and water stocks because of that fact. Governor Wilson speaks plainly when he says this of the enormous profits that have come from inflating the stocks of protected monopoly:

"We say, if you are taxing the the American people in order to make it possible to pay dividends on money you never had, we are not going to make it possible for you to continue that interesting business."

The New York World says that as for the excuse that the trusts are merely great business institutions, the Governor has "made the distinction so plain that even a George W. Perkins could understand," for he says:

"There is a difference between a big business and a trust. A trust is a big business that has an arrangement to get rid of competition, and a big business survives competition by conquering in the field of intelligence and economy. I am for big business and I am against the trusts."

As for the government's responsibility in not enforcing the law, these utterances have well earned him the opposition of all the predatory wealth of the country:

"One really responsible man in jail, one real originator of the schemes and transactions which are contrary to the public interest, legally lodged in the penitentiary, would be worth more than a thousand corporations mulcted in fines, if the reform is to be genuine and permanent.

"Corporations do not do wrong. Individuals do wrong—the individuals who direct and use them for selfish and illegitimate purposes to the injury of society and the serious curtailment of private rights. You cannot punish corporations, and fines fall upon the wrong persons, upon the stockholders and customers rather than upon the men who direct the policy of the business. If you will put one or two conspicuous dummies in the penitentiary, there will be no more dummies for hire."

That is what the people will consider sound Wilson doctrine.

TARIFF TAXES BURDENSOME.

The burden of the tariff is not understood by the masses because it is an indirect tax which is unknown as to its quantity. It nevertheless is felt, and this is one of the times when the people know that something is burdening them. They believe it is the tariff, although the Republicans are telling them that it is not.

The Democratic House thoroughly investigated the tariff and found it so outrageously high that it reivsed schedules that meant a saving of hundreds of millions of dollars to consumers. President Taft vetoed those tariff revision bills, and the people resented it two years ago by electing a Democratic House. They will emphasize that resentment on November 5th, by electing a Democratic President.

The Republican tariff is an indirect tax but the poorest man in the country will understand that it burdens him, when, as the Greensboro Record tells us, "a suit of ready made clothing valued at a foreign port at $6 is taxed under our present law 50 per cent., ad valorem, or $3 a suit."

Think of a poor man's paying such a tax as that on such a small value! The Democratic revision bill reduced that tax to 20 per cent. ad valorem, which would save the wearer $1.80 on his suit. However, if it be true that clothing manufacturers would not take advantage of the tariff to add 50 per cent. to the value of clothing, the average man would kick like a steer if he had to pay a direct tax of only 50 cents on a $6 suit, and that tax for the benefit of the manufacturer and not for his government.

Woodrow Wilson rings as clear as a bell of the right metal.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The decision of Senator Robert M. LaFollette in a public address that he will not vote for William H. Taft, Theodore Roosevelt or Woodrow Wilson for President indicates that he regrets the omission of some party or other to nominate Robert M. LaFollette. Perhaps it would be better if greater numbers could be disfranchised by omitting to nominate them for President.—Columbia State.

At Anderson, S. C., a man alighting from a street car was instantly cut down by a motorcycle running about 50 miles an hour. He may or may not recover from painful, disabling and dangerous wounds. In our opinion, people who drive gasoline locomotives of any kind at reckless speed, and with such further disregard of consequences to the public as shown by whizzing near stationary or slowing street cars, need a good rest in jail.—Charlotte Observer.

The question that is to be answered by every Democrat in North Carolina is "Have you registered?" It is a question which is asked for the sake of good government and to impress upon each voter the necessity to register in order not to lose his vote. The election this year is for the Nation, the State, the county. Failure to register means that a voter, otherwise qualified, himself surrenders his right to vote. It is a matter which is up to him to settle. But in a larger sense it is a patriotic as well as a party matter. Men who stand for good government, clean government, should vote for the men to maintain this. That makes it a patriotic duty to register and vote. And that the party for which you stand may poll a vote that shows its strength makes it your duty to register and vote. The registration books close on Saturday of this week at sunset. That is your last chance to register. Don't fail to do this. Don't disfranchise yourself. Be certain that your name is on the registration book.—Raleigh News and Observer.

In almost every important movement that has touched the heart of North Carolina, Wilmington has been the leader. Early in the revolution struggle it was the people of Wilmington who, undisguised and unafraid, threw the tea into the harbor, antedating that like patriotic action in Boston, where the people, whose patriotism caused them to throw the tea overboard, also caused them to disguise themselves to escape punishment. The Wilmington folks always carry on their revolutions in the open, willing to take the consequences of their action. In the revolution of 1898 that restored White Supremacy in North Carolina, Wilmington took the lead and its people with self sacrifice and heroism that has no parallel, gave their nights and days and put their lives in jeopardy to restore good government in North Carolina. No city in the world of its population and wealth ever gave so much money to build a railroad as did Wilmington to secure the construction of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad. This year, when North Carolina is setting the pace in the South for the election of Wilson and Marshall, Wilmington keeps up its record of being first. Already its people have raised for the Wilson Campaign Fund $5,706.75 and they have determined to raise $10,000 for the fund. When Governor Wilson was a boy his father was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Wilmington and spent several years in that city. The people there regard him as a Wilmington boy and he loves to be so regarded in the city where his father was so highly esteemed and where he spent some of the happiest years of his life. If all the big towns in North Carolina had contributed as liberally to the campaign fund as Wilmington, North Carolina could almost finance the campaign. Why shouldn't all the big towns in the State emulate the Wilmington spirit?—News and Observer.

THAT TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

What in the world will the poor man do?
This question may have occurred to you,
Especially when you draw your pay,
Then try and figure out a way
To make it go as far as you can,
It's then you scratch your head and plan.
A note falls due, insurance too—
An then you try and choose,
Whether to pay for Mary's hat
Or pay for Johnny's shoes.
You've got to pay the grocery bill
You know without a doubt.
For if you don't, that grocery man
Will surely cut you out.

But that's not half, there's other bills
Doctor and medicine for the children's ills,
The market man, the vegetable stand,
And when you pay the rent.
You find that when you "figger" up,
You haven't got a cent.
The G. O. P. is the cause of this
Admit it now you must.
So put them out—put Wilson in
And let him bust the trusts.
To accomplish this takes more than talk,
Let's pull together, let no one balk,
Be willing to give the cause a dollar,
Not like the tight-wad, make a holler.
When Wilson gets on that tariff plank,
You can put some money in the bank.

CIRCULARS ARE ISSUED

Pythians Throughout State Notified of Four Rallies to be Held in November—Founders' Bible Classes.

Col. Walker Taylor, Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythians, domain of North Carolina, has just sent out to the Pythian lodges throughout the State a circular letter calling attention to the four rallies or Founders' Bible Classes to be held in November. Much interest has already been shown in all parts of the State in the meetings and there is no doubt but all will be largely attended. In addition to the Grand Lodge officers there will be present a number of Supreme Lodge officers. The circular letter follows:

"To the Subordinate Lodges of the Domain of North Carolina:

"Greeting:—The following dates have been fixed upon for the Founders' Bible Class to be held in this domain in November, 1912: Charlotte, November 18th; Greensboro, November 19th; Goldsboro, November 20th; Wilmington, November 21st.

"Lodges at places named are requested to make proper arrangements for open meetings to be held prior to ritualistic work. Music and short addresses will be features of this open meeting. The Supreme Chancellor, Supreme Vice Chancellor, Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal, Supreme Master of Exchequer, Grand Chancellor, Grand Vice Chancellor, and other Grand Lodge officers and prominent Pythians will be present.

"Lodges in the vicinity of the respective meeting points are earnestly urged to secure classes for the Page Rank for these meetings. The Rank will be conferred by Supreme Lodge officers, and the obligation taken on the original Bible used by the Founders of the order, owned by Rathbone, whose family presented it to the Supreme lodge. Illustrated lecture in the Page Rank by State Deputy Jas. D. Nutt. All Pythians are invited to be present. The pictures used in this lecture were made from photographs posed from life. You will be pleased.

"There is a great demand from every part of the country for the Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal and the Rathbone Bible, and it is a special favor to secure his presence. Numbers of lodges are offering classes of one hundred or more for obligation on this Holy Book, which should possess a special interest for Pythians.

"Let every member of the order be present if possible.

"Fraternally,

"WALKER TAYLOR,
"Grand Chancellor.

"Attest: W. T. HOLLOWELL,
"Grand Keeper of Records and Seal.

"Note: Please see that every member of your lodge is advised of the dates and occasion, and make a special effort to procure his attendance. Appoint committees of three, and have each committee secure three or more candidates.

"Send a special invitation to all non-active members."

The following interesting bit of history relative to the Founder's Bible is given in the circular:

"Perhaps the most cherished of all sacred relics in the possession of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, with all its wealth of fraternal sentiment and its great meaning in Pythian history, is the little Bible which was used by the founder of the order, Justus H. Rathbone, in obligating the original members and those who were associated with him in the institution of the first lodge of Knights of Pythias, Washington, No. 1, at Washington, D. C., February 19, 1864. This Bible, now in custody of the Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal, was a gift to Mr. Rathbone by his mother on his fifth birthday, October 9, 1844. Its first use in connection with the founding of the order was on February 15, 1864, when after the regular rehearsal of the Arian Glee Club, of which he was a member, Rathbone drew forth a small Bible and upon it obligated David L. Burnett, W. H. Burnett, F. S. Kimball and Robert A. Champion, the original members to whom he read in its entirety the manuscript for the ritual which he had written for the new order. Four days later the Bible was used in obligating the original members of the first lodge.

"It has seen service during the past year in connection with a number of 'Bible Classes' in several parts of the country. The Supreme Keeper of Records has visited these Grand Domains, and in the initiation of classes of candidates has given the initiates the privilege of being obligated upon the founder's Bible. The Bible will be much in evidence during the coming two years, and already Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal Wheaton has received many invitations to visit Grand Domains in the interest of Bible Classes. The movement has proven to be one of the most popular demonstrations of sentiment and service in the history of the order."

Funeral of Little Son

The funeral of Norwood L. Williams, the 10-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Williams, whose death occurred Wednesday, was held from the family residence, No. 816 Chesnut street, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, pastor of the First Baptist church. The services were attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the sorely bereaved parents. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery.

Mr. Taylor Improving.

Mr. E. T. Taylor, president of the Navassa Guano Co., returned yesterday morning from Baltimore where he spent several days with his brother, Mr. J. A. Taylor, who underwent an operation this week at the Union Protestant Infirmary by Dr. Finney, the celebrated specialist. Mr. Taylor left his brother much improved and with his condition satisfactory in every respect, his friends through the city and State will be glad to learn.

ODD FELLOWS WERE HOSTS

Wilmington Lodge No. 139 Entertains in Honor of Other Lodges and Daughters of Rebekah—Refreshments Served.

Opening the Fall and Winter work, which promises to be quite active in Odd Fellowship, Wilmington Lodge No. 139, last night in the spacious I. O. O. F. hall, at Third and Princess streets, most hospitably entertained in honor of the sister lodges in the city and Letitia Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, the woman's auxiliary of the order.

Covers were laid for something like 75 and a tempting menu of chicken salad, coffee, ice cream and cake was enjoyed by the large number assembled at the festive board. Mr. L. E. Thomas, Noble Grand of Wilmington Lodge, was in general charge of the entertainment and the guests last evening were lavish in their praise of the delightful manner in which everything passed off. The Daughters of Rebekah served the refreshments and nothing was lacking to ensure the pleasure of everyone.

There were several interesting and inspiring addresses along the line of team work and the fraternal spirit which should characterize Odd Fellowship. A pleasing feature was the presentation of a handsome pair of gold cuff buttons, bearing the emblem of the three links to Mr. W. H. Badon, who has been especially active in team organization and work. The presentation was by Noble Grand Thomas and Mr. Badon made a feeling response to the compliment paid him.

During the evening Miss Thomas, the attractive daughter of the Noble Grand, delighted the audience with a beautiful solo, "Nobody Knows" and Mr. S. A. Matthews also gave pleasure with a well rendered solo and also made one of the most interesting addresses of the evening.

BOY LEAVES SAVANNAH.

Fred Watkins Starts for His Home at Whiteville—Comes Here.

The following is from Wednesday's Savannah Morning News:

"Fred Watkins, boy vagabond, left yesterday for Whiteville, N. C., on a ticket furnished him by the Associated Charities.

"A patrolman accompanied Watkins to the union station and placed him on board a train in charge of the conductor, who promised to see that the boy did not get off until his destination was reached.

"'Well, I'll get something to eat that's one thing sure,' he said, as he left the station.

"The police say they are glad to be rid of the bad boy, who has annoyed them ever since his first arrival in Savannah over a month ago. He has been kindly treated by them and has no real cause for complaint, but ungrateful, he blames them for all his misfortunes.

"Watkins said that he was going to stay at home and help his mother once he got there. The time he has spent in the station has not chastened his spirit in the least, but has given him a wholesome respect for the law and a term in jail which he is likely to never forget. He swears solemnly that he will never return to Savannah."

Watkins did not stop at Whiteville, but continued his journey to Wilmington, arriving Wednesday night. He immediately called at the county jail to see Frank Mills, a youth of about the same age, who was his pal on the hobo trip to Savannah. Mills was brought back here to answer a charge of forging two checks and is in jail pending preliminary trial tomorrow morning. Watkins was not permitted by the jailer to see Mills until yesterday morning. Mills claims that the Watkins boy is his cousin. Learning that his son had come on to Wilmington, the Watkins boy's father arrived yesterday to take him back to Whiteville. He asked the police and county officers to aid him in a search for the boy, but up to last night he had not been located, it was said.

THE RECORDER'S COURT

Three Cases Heard Yesterday Morning—Heavy Docket Today

Substitute Recorder George Harriss presided at yesterday's session of the Recorder's court, Recorder Furlong being out of the city. There were only three cases to claim the attention of the court. R. B. Davis, colored, was found not guilty of assault on a female. It was alleged that the unmercifully whipped his 14-year-old daughter, Annie Davis, but the charge was not sustained by the evidence and the defendant was discharged.

W. S. Beaseley, a white man, was fined $5 and costs for riding a bicycle on the wrong side of the street. He gave notice of appeal to Superior Court. Afterwards the judgment of the court was changed, the defendant being let off upon payment of the costs. William Grady, alias Budy Grady, and May Loftin, both colored, were found guilty of an affray in which deadly weapons were used and were fined $10 each and the costs. The case came up from Justice Bornemann's court.

Cases against 30 or 40 women of the underworld, charged with vagrancy, are scheduled to be tried this morning. The cases have been continued several times for one reason or another and Assistant City Attorney Geo. L. Peschau says that he shall vigorously insist upon trial today. He will also pray judgment of the court in an old case against the defendants. He prayed judgment when the cases came up a few days ago, but attorneys for the defense raised some technical point and the matter was continued until today.

The differences that have existed between Mr. D. L. T. Capps and Mr. Melvin Horne for some time, resulting in both being placed under peace bonds, have apparently been adjusted. They stated in court yesterday that the controversy between them was a closed incident. Acting upon these statements the court ordered that both be released from the obligation of the peace bonds.

REGISTRARS AT COURT HOUSE

Voters Living in City and Delgado Precinct May Register There From 1 to 3 P. M. Today by Special Arrangements

In order to give the voters of the city and Delgado precinct an opportunity to register while en route to or from dinner without any inconvenience or loss of time from their work, Mr. George Harriss, chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee, yesterday afternoon directed a communication to all the registrars for Wilmington and Delgado requesting them to be at the Court House in the clerk's office today from 1 to 3 P. M.

Voters living in the city and at Carolina Heights, Carolina Place and other suburbs in Delgado precinct, who have not yet registered will thus be enabled to register with little or no inconvenience. Reports are to the effect that the voters are very slow in registering and those who have not attended to this important matter are reminded that the books will close tomorrow night. It is the desire of the Democratic Executive Committee to secure as large a registration as is possible and all qualified electors who have not registered are urged to do so either today or tomorrow.

This is not a new registration, but all persons not registered for the last State election in 1910 will have to register in order to vote. The requirements are residence in the State two years, six months in the county, four months in the precinct, next preceding the election. Changes from one precinct to another require registration, if the change is or exceeds four months of the day of election. All who have become of age since the last election must register in order to vote. Young men who become of age between the closing of the registration books and election day can register and vote on election day. The names of those who registered in the last State election have been transcribed to the new books, but as there is always a possibility of an error it behooves all voters to ascertain whether or not their names appear on the new books.

"TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY"

Great White Plague Will be the Theme In Churches Sunday

Thousands of pastors and tens of thousands of voices will utter words of warning to the people of America Sunday, October 27th, of the rapid development in the Nation of a plague, which, unless a careful, systematic and ceaseless movement toward prevention be quickly set in motion, bids fair to undermine the health of Americans; to eat its way into the vitals of our very existence to such an extent that the "Black Plague" and all other plagues recorded in history will pale into insignificance by comparison.

This deadly disease is tuberculozis. Hundreds of thousands suffer with it in America today, jeopardizing the health of every man, woman and child. Because of its stealthiness it has crept into the life of the people to an extent undreamed of, and every man and every woman owes it, not only to themselves but to society at large, and especially to the coming generation, to put forth every effort to aid in the cure and prevention of the malady. And an opportunity is given the people of Wilmington to learn more about the disease, its prevalence, prevention and cure, next Sunday for several of the churches will make it a special topic.

At Grace Methodist church the evening will be devoted to "tuberculosis" and two of Wilmington's prominent physicians, Drs. J. C. Wessell and Ernest S. Bulluck, will speak at that time. Needless to go into detail regarding this service for it will be worth much to any person to go and hear these learned men tell us about the one disease that today menaces our national health.

At the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, will preach a special sermon on the "White Plague" Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Foster will doubtless be heard with the greatest interest on this occasion.

While the two churches mentioned will set aside the services as noted, other churches in the city will pay more or less attention to the subject, as announced from various pulpits, and there is no doubt but that from the tremendous amount of educational work being done all over the United States on next Sunday much good will result.

The movement now on foot was first started 12 years ago by the International Typographical Union, a body at that time having 32,000 members, a large percentage of whom were affected with tuberculosis. In fact, it was a common saying that printing and consumption went together. But during 12 years of ceaseless efforts, the most noticeable of which was their educational propaganda, the printers have steadily decreased the percentage of cases among their craft and have lengthened the tenure of life by nearly eight years, it being in 1900, 41.25 and in 1912, 48.09, and in 1912 there are 60,000 members.

The chairman of the printers' local "Tuberculosis Committee," Mr. J. Dana Jones, states that the union has published a little booklet telling of their fight against the disease which will be mailed to anyone on request free of charge. It contains much valuable information and such as will, if followed, prevent an attack of the disease and aid in a cure in cases where it has already developed.

Saved By His Wife

She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. "She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. F. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, and it completely cured me. A quick cure for coughs and colds, it's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsilitis, hemorrhages. A trial will convince you. 50 cents and $1. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

TOOK AN INVOLUNTARY FLIGHT

Bladen County Citizen Caught in Ropes of Ascending Balloon at Fayetteville Fair, Carried for Miles—Newbern.

Standing by as an interested spectator, while a mammoth balloon was being inflated and otherwise prepared for a flight by Mr. Walter W. Raub, a professional who was seen in several flights here recently at Highwood Park, Mr. James W. Smith, 42 years old, a farmer of Cypress Creek township, Bladen county, took quite a sensational and an entirely involuntary flight on the Cumberland Fair grounds at Fayetteville yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock when the big balloon suddenly broke loose from its moorings and sailed majestically upwards. Mr. Smith was caught around the ankle of one of his feet by one of the ropes of the balloon and before hundreds of people who were anxiously awaiting the ascension by Mr. Raub knew what had happened, they were agape with horror to see the bag suddenly shoot upwards with a man, hanging by one foot, head downward, wildly gesticulating and apparently making an effort to get at his knife with which to cut himself loose. When the balloon had ascended to a height of several hundred feet, Mr. Smith's presence of mind evidently came to him and he was seen to reach and pull himself upward by the rope which held his foot firmly until finally hand over hand, he safely ensconced himself in the cage of the machine after which at an altitude of several thousand feet, it sailed majestically across the Cape Fear river, a distance of three miles, dropping to the ground in a cotton field with the erstwhile aeronaut not one whit the worse for his experience. The thrilling incident was watched by several thousand spectators on the fair grounds, who later saw Mr. Raub make the regular ascension and the parachute leap. Mr. Smith was brought back to the fair grounds by a party who gave pursuit to the balloon and it is unnecessary to say that he was the centre of attraction for the remainder of the afternoon.

The facts of Mr. Smith's ascension were brought to the city last night by Mr. J. Leon Williams, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Fair, which opens at Newbern Tuesday of next week, and Mr. Williams described graphically the impromptu ascension. While in Fayetteville Mr. Williams booked a number of added attractions for his great fair next week and stopped over in Wilmington to interest the people of the sister city in his exhibition which he promises will be the best of all yet. He is especially anxious for a very large attendance from Eastern Carolina and from Wilmington. The railroads have granted very low round trip rates and Mr. Williams says that he has visited all the State and county fairs and Newbern has the finest grounds of all. Not only are the grounds complete, but the exhibitions and attractions this year will be of the very best. The free attractions, as have been published, will include Frank Champion in flights twice daily in a monoplane; daily ascensions with three parachute drops by W. W. Raub; Hardy, the High Wire King, who walked across the Niagara rapids; White and Lamar in a comedy platform stunt; the Cycling Herberts, trick bicyclists of National reputation; Zara, who sings with the band, and music on all occasions by Passerie's Italian Band of 20 pieces, who come from Philadelphia after playing the past season in Washington Park.

Tuesday, for the opening, there will be a great military parade, including 10 soldier and military companies, the exercises at the fair grounds opening with an address by Hon. Francis D. Winston, followed by military maneuvers for prizes and a sham battle in the centre of the race course. Wednesday will be educational day with 20,000 school children from Eastern Carolina invited to participate in games and other exercises on the grounds. Thursday will be the big day when all business will be suspended for half a day and the people will turn out for an automobile parade, followed by a horse show at the grounds and a football game between Newbern and the A. & M. second team. Every day there will be horse races, chariot races, motor cycle exhibitions of speed led by Fuelstein, of Norfolk, champion speed artist of the South. There will be many exhibits of forest, field and factory and no pains will be spared by Newbern in entertaining most royally the thousands who will journey for the week to the City of Elms.

Large Cargo of Cotton for Bremen—Two Steamers Clear

The British steamer Nora, Capt. James, cleared yesterday for Bremen with cargo of 15,604 bales cotton; cargo and vessel by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son. The Nora's cargo is valued at $816,000 and represents the largest shipment of cotton from this port during the present season.

The British steamer Remembrance, Capt. Nesbitt, arrived yesterday from Norfolk, light, to receive cargo of cotton for export from Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son.

The German steamer Hettfield, Capt. Wriedt, after discharging cargo of fertilizer materials, steamed yesterday for New Orleans. Messrs. Heide & Co., were agents for the vessel.

The British steamer Glenroy, Capt. Freeman, cleared yesterday for New York, after having discharged cargo of fertilizer materials at the Seaboard Air Line terminals. Mr. Henry Whyte was agent for the vessel.

New Apparatus at Work.

One of the two motor-driven combination hose and chemical apparatus recently purchased for the fire department was put into actual service last night in answering a telephone alarm at 8 o'clock sent in on account of a small blaze in the roof of the building occupied by the Dixie Cafe, on Princess street. It did not leave the fire station for several minutes after the other apparatus, for at first the firemen were undecided as to whether to run it out. The blaze did not amount to anything, being extinguished with a hand chemical. Caused from a defective flue, the fire did an estimated damage of $10.

HANDSOME YACHT.

Beautiful Pleasure Craft Purchased by Mr. James Sprunt.

This week's issue of the Southport News has the following of local interest:

"Mr. James Sprunt's recent purchase, the speed yacht formerly the Helen E., now the Lola, was brought down from Boston last week by Capt. Leta D. Potter, who says he had a most enjoyable trip and gives the News the following account:

"The yacht was built by the famous Lawley, of Boston, for Mr. Sandborn, of the coffee firm of Chase & Sandborn. She is built of solid mahogany planking five-eights of an inch thick, with cedar three-eights, making the hull one inch. She is 50 feet long, eight feet beam, 30 inches draft. Her cabins are exquisitely finished in plain solid mahogany. Has running water with all conveniences. Carries 300 gallons of gasoline and consumes 16 gallons and two gallons of cylinder oil per hour under a 20 knot speed. Under a 15 knot speed she uses 10 gallons of gasoline and 1 1-2 gallons of cylinder oil. Her engine control is as easy to work as that of any automobile.

"The Lola was the handsomest boat in the port of Boston and has been written about in magazines more than any other boat of her class.

"The following is the log of the trip: Left Boston Aug. 14th; ran to Cottage City in seven hours; was weather bound there two days; made the run from Cottage City to Stapleton, L. I., New York, in 10 hours (187 nautical miles); proceeded south through the inland routes; the first night stopped at Trenton, N. J.; the next day made Chesapeake City, then Baltimore; then made the run to Norfolk in 10 hours; the next day to Elizabeth City, N. C., passing in all through 21 lock canals, some 60-odd bridges; was weather bound two days at Roanoke Island, N. C.; made Beaufort in eight hours, and made the run from Beaufort dock to Southport in seven hours."

Mr. Sprunt is to be congratulated on having such a speedy and beautiful boat.

Frosts In the District

With temperature ranging from 38 at Goldsboro and Lumberton to 44 at Wilmington, light frosts were reported from many points in the district by the Weather Bureau yesterday morning. Charlotte, Lumberton, Newbern and Fayetteville reported a trace. The Savannah, Atlanta, Memphis and Mobile districts of the Weather Bureau reported light to heavy frosts from half a dozen stations or more.

JAMES-CLARK NUPTIALS AT TARBORO WEDNESDAY.

Mr. John Haughton James, of this city, and Miss Isabel Hamilton Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Samuel Clark, were married at Calvary Episcopal church, Tarboro, the home of the bride, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The wedding was one of the social events of the season at Tarboro. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Marsden Bellamy, Jr., and has visited Wilmington many times and has hundreds of friends here who will be pleased to welcome her as the bride of Mr. James.

Wednesday's Tarboro Southerner, which arrived last night, contained the following advanced account of the wedding:

"At 8 o'clock this evening in Calvary Episcopal church one of Tarboro's most popular young ladies will enter the marriage state when Miss Isabel Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Clark, becomes the bride of Mr. J. Haughton James, of Wilmington.

"For the past three weeks society has been agog with this affair and it comes as the culmination of many attractive social events given in honor of the bride-to-be.

"For the past week guests and attendants from out of town have been arriving in the city, and at present all the bridesmaids and groomsmen are here.

"The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Bertram E. Brown, rector of this church, and the full vested choir will sing. 'O Perfect Love' will be used as a processional and the Wedding March from 'The Rose Maid' will be sung by the choir just before the bridal party enters the church. Just after the song the party will enter to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mrs. George Pennington.

"The public is invited to both the wedding and reception to be given at the home of the bride just after it. As there were no invitations issued in the city the family wishes everyone to understand that the affair is to be public and the house will be thrown open to the friends of the couple and family."

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING CELEBRATED AT MAXTON

Maxton, N. C., Oct. 23.—Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, a few minutes later than the hour named, at the Presbyterian church, Dr. H. G. Hill officiating and using his ceremony, "The Graces," were solemnized the nuptial rites by which Miss Margaret Patterson Baldwin became the wife of Edward Tayloe Carrowan.

Beautiful indeed, was the sight that greeted the eye when the church doors were thrown open. The platform was a mass of green, and roporters of the graceful long-leaf pine covered a background of pure white. Filtering through these and filling the church was the soft glow of candle light.

With Mrs. H. B. Ashley, Jr., at the piano, accompanied on the violin by R. A. G. Barnes, of Washington, N. C., Mrs. R. M. Williams sang, "For All Eternity" and "For You, Dear Heart."

Then, while the lingering notes of the songs were still echoing, the endearing notes of Mendelsshon's Wedding March were heard and the bridal party entered. The ushers coming in at the side doors and down the side aisles stood at the foot of the platform. They were Ben. S. Barnes, Lacy Williams, D. M. Clarkson, and F. C. Frostick. The attendants, Miss Hallie Austin with Jno. H. Smith, of Washington, N. C.; Miss Sadie McKinnon with W. June McKay; Miss Jessie Burns with G. H. Gaskins, of Wilmington, N. C., and Miss Emily Everett with Thos. Carrowan, entered from the rear door and down the side aisles, where crossing they stood on the platform. The bridesmaids wore lavender chiffon over messaline and carried lavender chiffon muffs with violets. The little ribbon girls, Misses Louise McCallum and Elizabeth Currie, in dainty dresses of white lace, preceded the bridal party proper, down the central aisle. Following them came the two dames of honor, Mrs. J. G. Baldwin and Mrs. R. K. Craven, of Clarkton, N. C., both brides of the season, wearing their own wedding dresses and carrying white chiffon muffs with lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Barnes, came next and wore white Marquisette over messaline. Then came the flower girl, little Miss Katherine McKinnon, in white lace and bearing a basket of violets.

When all these had taken their positions in and about the platform, from the rear and down the central aisle, same the bride, her only ornament being a handsome crescent of diamonds, the gift of the groom, and carrying a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, handsomely gowned in a creation of white crepe meteor over satin and trimmed in real lace and orange blossoms, with her brother, J. C. Baldwin. Advancing, they were met by the groom and his best man, Robert H. Beattie, of Charlotte, N. C. Approaching the altar they were quickly made one. As they were leaving the church Lohengrin's Wedding March was played.

The couple then proceeded to the home of the bride's mother, where a change was made to a blue coat suit traveling costume, and they were away by the Atlantic Coast Line's 9 o'clock train for New York and other Northern cities. On their return they will stop by Stony Point, Va., for a visit to the groom's people. From there they will return to Maxton and for the present will make their home at Mrs. D. C. McIver's, on Main street.

Among the out-of-town guests in attendance on the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Patterson, of Stockton, Cal; Dr. and Mrs. R. K. Craven and Mrs. G. L. Clark, of Clarkton, N. C.; Miss Ethel Buchan, of Manly, N. C.; Misses Lily Mae and Mamie McKinnon, of Laurinburg, N. C.; Jno. H. Smith, of Washington, N. C.; G. H. Gaskins, Wilmington; Robert H. Beattie, Charlotte

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Effie Baldwin and is a niece of Hon. G. B. Patterson. She is a most charming young woman and is exceedingly popular among her hosts of acquaintances.

Mr. Carrowan is the local Atlantic Coast Line agent, coming to Maxton two years ago, he quickly made friends and tonight carried off one of her fairest daughters.

..Theatrical..

The Academy's offering tonight will be Della Clarke's new candidate for popular favor, "Introduce Me," a four-act comedy, which is full of fun from beginning to end. Never does it become serious until nearing the climax of the third act, which ends strongly dramatic. The last act, it is claimed, makes the audience laugh almost continuously from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

The moral of the play is a particularly strong, and especially delights the women of the audience, inasmuch as it gives an example of the fit of jealousy and rage a married man having affinities gets into when he suspects that his faithful and self-sacrificing wife also has a love on the side. His accusation made at the close of the third act is as deep as the strongest drama.

The story is told in four acts. Geo. Nichol fails in writing classics. His wife engages a separate apartment and writes a successful novel, entitled, "Susan." A publisher places the book before the critics and it becomes the talk of the day. Her husband attributes her absence from home while writing her book to her many engagements at the various women's clubs he thinks she belongs to.

When the money begins rolling in from the sale of the book she leads him to believe she is getting the money from her Aunt Hannah, a most ordinary country woman, who owns but two pigs and one acre.

Weatherspoon, the publisher, becomes acquainted with the authoress' husband; he makes an engagement with them, at the same time having him meet Edna Somers, the great actress, who asks that he dramatize his wife's book.

In the meantime Aunt Hannah comes up from the farm with her rural manners. Mrs. Nichol puts Aunt Hannah up to say she is immensely wealthy, to carry out the plan she has already started. The publisher makes an engagement with Mrs. Nichol and Aunt Hannah imagines that something like the love of affinities is between them.

The husband meets the actress and becomes enamored over her and Aunt Hannah sees this. Then the aunt discovers the wine chest and empties it. Intoxicated, she tells all she knows, and Nichol is convinced his wife has another love besides his. He accuses her and they separate. In the final act the play is presented before an audience in New York which goes wild over it. After several amusing scenes the authoress and the dramatizer are brought together by the actress and the publisher, and it is then that Nichol learns for the first time that his own wife was no other than the famous writer, Frances Everton, her visitor was the publisher, and they are again brought happily together. Seats may be reserved at Plummer's.

A Swell Weber Show.

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" will be presented by Joe Weber at the Academy tomorrow, matinee and night. This farce with music ran a full season from the middle of August to the middle of May at Weber's Theatre, New York City. It may be called the most phenomenal of the few successes which were accepted by the blase theatre-goer of the metropolis last season.

Mr. Hobart wrote his successful American version around the music of Jean Briquet, that is, he imbibed thoroughly the daintiness of that master's work and kept his comedy in the highest ranges of wit. Music is pure, it can only be tainted by vulgar surroundings. The effort of Mr. Hobart retained all the charms of the music. He also treated the always humorous French situations in a delicate manner. The result was that Mr. Weber offered the New York first nighters a complete surprise.

The critics next day printed splendid enconiums of the production and "Alma, Where Do You Live?" started on a season's run with the most phenomenal business Weber's Theatre had ever known.

Seats for both performances are selling at Plummer's.

The Brilliant Event Monday Night.

The one great international musical comedy success of recent theatrical history is coming to the Academy Monday night, when Klaw & Erlanger present there the brilliant musical comedy, "The Pink Lady."

This surest of all hits has recently terminated its remarkable run of over 400 performances at the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York City and will be seen here in every essential exactly as it was given there and in the same spirit which captivated theatre-goers of that centre of theatrical activity for over a year.

Local patrons may not be familiar with the details of "The Pink Lady", but they have heard its music played in every imaginable form and have been awaiting the coming of the big production ever since the season opened. "My Beautiful Lady", the sensational waltz hit is a factor in the score, but is only one of 18 distinct numbers that have added to the fame of "The Pink Lady" as a whole. It is played by a selected orchestra of players who have been with the piece ever since the New York run began and are traveling with the company on its present big tour. Ivan Caryll, who made the score, also worked out the orchestration of it and while many are familiar with his music they have not really heard it unless they have witnessed a presentation of the piece in the theatre by the Klaw & Erlanger forces, which are so skilfully utilized in bringing out every subtle quality of this pleasing feature of the production.

C. M. S. McLellan wrote the book and lyrics, his story being an adaptation of the French farce, "Le Satyre" by Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemaud, which in its original form ran for nearly a year at the Palais Royal in Paris. Given a book of perfect construction and delightful humor and a score adjusted to the light moods of the story Klaw & Erlanger have made their production a notable one. The intention was to realize its color possibilities in an artistic sense. To do this required a nice appreciation of its subtle influences. In the three scenes that frame the story is blended more tone harmony and understanding of color significance than has been revealed here in a light musical offering in years.

The exactions of "The Pink Lady" are numerous and the matter of players in the scenes is not an easy one. A company of 100 people is utilized and each member of the cast is selected with a view to his or her individual fitness to the role entrusted to them. This even extends to the artistic manner in which the pink of perfection chorus is employed.

Seats now selling.

At The Bijou

As well as the spot for solid comfort and the biggest show for the smallest money, the popular, handsome Bijou is also the particular place where novelty prevails. Today this will be strikingly impressed upon all by beholding one of the most unique and attractive films ever manufactured. It is Kalem's "The Country Fair," and it offers something entirely new in the field of moving pictures. It is a merry whirl, as it shows the fair in full blast and takes the onlookers onto the gay and dizzy midway, but wrapped up in all this merriment and excitement is a story of heart interest, with a number of thrilling features. A country lassie and a slick sideshowman play the stellar roles, and hold interest in a tight grip. The girl is infatuated with the showman, who proposes that they elope. How she is rescued just in time, after an exciting chase, is a surprise, as well as something very intense.

A great Lubin film is also a star today in "Red Saunder's Sacrifice." Regardless of the fact that he has killed a man and that a standing reward is out for his capture, "Red Saunders" goes to the town to get a physician for a woman he finds dying. This, of course, means his capture, but his noble sacrifice leaks out and the sheriff, a big, rugged Westerner, with a great heart, allows him to escape, and the outlaw repents and at once. It is a human nature story of wonderful power.

The other films for today are the equals of these and help to make today's Bijou bill a hummer in every way. Of course, the price of admission won't be raised. It never will be at the Bijou.

The Grand's Big Day

The management of the Grand Theatre is never so happy as when providing "something just a little bit better" for its hundreds of enthusiastic patrons and today they may be sure of something good.

Mr. Leonard Chick, the balladist, will sing for today J. Fred Helf's latest and greatest Irish march song success, "A Wee Little Drop 'O the Crinskeen Larvy." It is full of comedy and good music by the writer of "A Bit of Blarney," "Colleen Bawn" and "Tipperary."

In the moveys there will be a great double Kalem, two subjects on one reel, "Paying the Board Bill" and "Central Park," New York. This is a great picture and both subjects will be full of interest and there will be just enough comedy to give a delicious flavor to the general menu. Particularly interesting to the people of a sea coast town will be a Selig, "The Shuttle of Fate," a Selig, giving the thrilling story of a wreck at sea and the romance developed out of it. This is a striking and a costly picture that needs to be seen to be appreciated.

Remember that all pictures at The Grand are put on with realistic effects and that all times the full orchestra accompanies.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

COTTON MADE SHARP ADVANCE

Several Factors Combined to Boost Prices at Opening—Realizing Active Near the Close—Net Gain 7 to 10 Points

New York, Oct. 24.—Reports of a continued active demand for spot cotton in the South, apprehensions of cold weather in the belt and a disposition on the part of some recent sellers to cover for over the week-end or the ginning figures expected at the opening tomorrow, caused quite a sharp advance in the cotton market today, with prices making new high ground for the movement. Realizing became active in the last half hour, however, and several points of the improvement was lost, the close being barely steady, although last prices still showed a net gain of 7 to 10 points. The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 6 points, on the steady showing of cables and overnight buying orders. Rather a favorable view of the earlier weather reports, which indicated higher temperatures in the Western belt and only light frosts east of the river, may have accounted for some irregularity after the call, but reactions were limited, and the market soon developed renewed firmness. The official forecasts for further frosts in the Eastern belt tonight and colder weather in the West, combined with the fact that later detailed weather advices showed lower temperatures last night than suggested by early reports, helped the advance, while reports of a continued active trade demand were considered quite an important factor. The market gradually worked higher and during the middle of the afternoon became more active and somewhat excited on a flurry of covering for over the ginning report. A few stop loss orders were uncovered above 10.60 for December, and the market sold up to 10.65 for that position, or about 17 points net higher. Profit-taking checked the advance at this level, and the close was 6 to 7 points off from the best on active deliveries.

Spot, steady; middling uplands, 11.05; middling gulf, 11.30; sales, 15.00 bales.

Futures closed barely steady.

STOCKS RESIST BEAR ATTACK

The Selling Movement Concentrated Against U. S. Steel and Railways —Prices Waver Uncertainly In the Late Session

New York, Oct. 24. — Almost the only noteworthy feature of today's stock market was its stubborn resistance to a series of bear attacks. From the very outset the interested adopted an aggressive attitude, finding slight encouragement in the state of the foreign markets, but moderate support invariably resulted in general recoveries. The selling movement concentrated against United States Steel, the Hill issues, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Lehigh Valley. Reading was easily the strongest of the railway group. Prices wavered uncertainly in the late session, but a mild flurry in call loans, which rose to 6 per cent., caused another setback, but support was again effective in restoring the general level to a fraction over the preceding day's close. The sudden rise in money occasioned no surprise in view of the condition of the local banks. Their cash loss to the interior, chiefly through the sub-treasury, totals about $9,000,000 thus far, with indications of a further drain tomorrow. Time money was firm on the increased demand, but rates were unchanged. The rise in the German banks' discount rate from 4½ to 5 per cent. was in keeping with last week's advances by the English and French institutions. Paris prices held firm and Berlin displayed more confidence. The Bank of England slightly increased its liability reserves and bullion holdings.

Bonds again reflected the irregular course of stocks on light trading. Total sales, par value, were $1,780,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales of stocks today, 586,200 shares.

If appetite fails, take Electric Bitters quickly to overcome the cause by toning up the stomach and curing the indigestion. BECKER GUILTY IN THE FIRST DEGREE keen, intense, gripping. It was broken by a woman's muffled screams, the sound of a falling body. The prisoner's wife had fainted dead away.

Just before the verdict was given, Mr. McIntyre made his last plea. He asked that the court grant an earlier request of the jury, to inspect the testimony of the persons who talked to Sam Schepps in Hot Springs, Ark.

The court refused to hear the plea. Mr. McIntyre had opposed granting that request of the jury when it was made to Justice Goff six and a half hours before. It was upon this question, whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice to the murder, that Justice Goff had hinged his charge to the jury.

The penalty for murder in the first degree is the electric chair.

An appeal from the verdict goes directly to the Court of Appeals at Albany, and acts, of course, as a stay of execution.

When the jurors left the court room they went directly to their homes.

They were under the mandate of Justice Goff "not to communicate the nature of what had taken place in the jury room."

New York, Oct. 24.—Police Lieut. Charles Becker sat in his cell in the Tombs tonight while across the "Bridge of Sighs" in the darkened Criminal Courts building 12 men struggled to decide whether he was guilty of the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

Twice during the afternoon the jury communicated with Justice Goff. Once it asked for the stipulations made by the State with the four informers, Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, and Schepps' letter to Rose written at Hot Springs, Ark., and expressing his willingness to testify. The second time the jury wanted the testimony of persons who talked with Schepps in Hot Springs. The first request was granted, the second denied because portions of the testimony taken at Hot Springs had been excluded by the court. Schepps, in view of the court's charge, was apparently much in the jurors' minds.

After waiting four hours for a verdict, Justice Goff went home for dinner. He left word that he would return at 10 o'clock unless he should be wanted by the jury in the meantime.

Before leaving Justice Goff instructed court attendants to take the jury to dinner when its members should signify they wanted to go. But the jurors made no such request and a meal was sent in to them—sandwiches and coffee—at 8:30 o'clock.

At 10 o'clock no further word had been received from the jury room and indications were then that the jury might be locked up for the night.

The prisoner's destiny was delivered into the jury's hands at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon after a three-hour charge by Justice Goff, which Becker characterized as distinctly unfair and "a thin veiled summing up for the State, and upon which his counsel, John F. McIntyre declined to comment. To do so, he said, would place him in contempt of court.

Stripped of its legal verbiage, the charge, in effect, was a ruling that the guilt or innocence of the prisoner rested almost solely upon the debatable point as to whether Sam Schepps was an accomplice to the crime. Dapper little Schepps when arrested at Hot Springs styled himself the "Keystone of the Arch." As events transpired, he spoke truer than he knew. The judge himself was doubtful as to Schepps' status and declined to guide the jurors in a decision.

What he did instruct them to do was to return a verdict of first degree murder, second degree murder or to acquit the defendant. Manslaughter was eliminated and "a compromise verdict" was directed upon the motion of Becker's lawyer. By far the greater part of the court's instructions dealt with murder in the first degree.

Flanked by counsel, face expressionless, Becker sat chewing gum while the court delivered the charge. Back of the railing sat his wife, head bowed, eyes downcast. The white haired justice spoke in a monotone, but with incisive deliberateness. "It is not claimed by the prosecution that Becker's hand did actually kill Rosenthal," he said at a crucial point. "It is claimed that he requested and directed that the killing should be done and as I have already instructed the jury, Becker, in law, must be held responsible for the acts of every one who acted in pursuance of his request or instructions.

"It is important here that I should direct you as to the law governing the case now presented, where a person is claimed not to have done the actual killing, but to have inspired it and instructed it. Under the law Becker stands charged principally with the commission of the murder on the ground that he counseled and advised it."

The court here added that the main witnesses against the defendant were without a doubt accomplices, as he so branded Rose, Vallon and Webber. Schepps' relation he would not define.

Justice Goff read to the jury what he termed "a brief skeleton of evidence," adduced by the State.

First, in the latter part of June, Becker told Webber he wanted Rosenthal killed; secondly, he followed this with instructions to Rose to have Rosenthal killed; Rose following out this instruction, carried out the designs of the defendant. That sums up the State's case. If you find that it has been proven, you must return a verdict of murder in the first degree.

"The State must prove this clearly and beyond reasonable doubt before you can render such a verdict."

Justice Goff narrated in detail Becker's movements on the night of the murder and testified to by witnesses.

"I instruct you," said the justice, in concluding his reading, "that the events referred to in this recital of the State's case do not exclude from our consideration any other events which come within the scope of the evidence.

"There is no question that Rose, Webber and Vallon were accomplices," he said. "As to Schepps, there is a question. I must say that I am in doubt on this point myself, and therefore, I decline to instruct you that he was an accomplice. You must determine that yourselves. There is a suspicion that he was; but suspicion is not proof."

"You cannot convict on the testimony of accomplices, and one accomplice cannot corroborate another. The point you must determine yourselves is whether Schepps' testimony shall be considered as that of a corroborating witness or as an accomplice.

"You alone must decide that.

"It is hard to prescribe as to just how far a jury may consider testimony of accomplices, but there must be other testimony to mix with it. The law says such testimony must be received, and it is the intent of the law that such testimony shall be carefully considered and weighed.

"There is, therefore, no inhibition upon you from considering as true the testimony of Rose and Vallon and Webber.

"As to Rose you can ask yourselves: 'Is it within the limit of probabilities that he could concoct this scheme of sending Becker to the electric chair?' You may consider whether it is within his mentality to devise this conspiracy, unaided, to save his own life.

"If his story impressed you as having no foundation in truth, is a concoction, the case of the State will have to fall and you will have to acquit the defendant.

"It has been said that Rosenthal was unpopular and that other gamblers killed him; that they are now seeking to rid themselves of Becker. I instruct you that that situation would not excuse the defendant if he made use of it for his own purposes. If he intended murder he becomes the principal in the act, and if the men he caused to commit murder were also impelled by other causes to their deed, the defendant is, nevertheless, as guilty as if his directions were the only cause of the gunmen's act."

REVIVAL AT CHADBOURN.

Business Houses Close—Cotton Being Rapidly Marketed—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chadbourn, N. C., Oct. 24.—Revival services are in progress at the Methodist church. The three denominations represented with churches have come together in the plan for a general revival. Rev. W. C. Martin, pastor of the Methodist church, is taking the lead in this movement. All the preachers and other Christian workers of the town have been for some time at work preparing for the revival. The merchants and other business men of the town have signed an agreement to close their places of business from 10:30 A. M. until 11:30 A. M., the hour of the day service, and 7:30 P. M., during the progress of the meeting. Not in years has there been more interest shown at the beginning of a meeting here. The local pastors are conducting the services this week. They expect Rev. H. A. Humble, of Laurinburg, to arrive the last of the week. Mr. Humble has the reputation of being an earnest and forcible preacher, and one of the most successful evangelistic workers in the State.

Cotton has been coming in in large quantities for the last two weeks. Brown gin has been running day and night for some time, but the rush is still on. Something like 65 or 70 per cent. of the cotton in this section is the long staple, and it is bringing a very good price.

Mr. Pritchard Lennon is having the wooden buildings on corner of Brown and Railroad streets moved, preparatory to erecting a large brick building.

IDENTIFIES LETTERS.

Stenographer Testifies at Dynamite Trial—Will be Read Later.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Grace Gaylor Wallis, former stenographer for John J. McNamara, identified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today many letters received and sent from the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers' headquarters just before McNamara's arrest on April 22nd, 1911.

The letters were between McNamara and various officials of the union who are now on trial. Mrs. Wallis denied that J. B. McNamara, who blew up the Los Angeles Times building, was about the headquarters much. She said she had seen him only twice after he was being searched for. The witness also denied that any nitroglycerine cans or packages of dynamite were kept about the office.

None of the letters were read. District Attorney Charles W. Miller said probably two days would be devoted to the reading of the letters. It is these letters, the government charges, which contain evidence that all of the 45 defendants showed their knowledge of the conspiracy.

Andrew J. Dilling, employe of a Cincinnati trunk manufacturer, testified concerning the manufacture of a fibroid case made for J. J. McNamara and which the government charges was used for carrying nitro-glycerine in passenger trains. Henry W. Ledleitner, Denver, former member of the union's executive board, is charged specifically with carrying the case from Pittsburg, Pa., to union headquarters at Indianapolis.

GOV. OSBORN INJURED.

Hurt in Train Wreck at Chicago—Several Others Injured.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Governor Chase E. Osborn, of Michigan, was one of 12 persons injured in train and street car wrecks here today that resulted from a dense fog that covered the southern part of the city. The Governor was only slightly injured on the right arm. Mrs. Osborn, who accompanied her husband, was not hurt. Of the others injured four are believed to be dying, while the rest were not seriously hurt.

The first wreck occurred when a Big Four train crashed into the rear of a Michigan Central train at the 70th street crossing. Governor and Mrs. Osborn were on the latter train coming to Chicago. Besides the Governor three women were slightly injured in this wreck.

A second wreck occurred when a Pennsylvania train struck a street car at 106th street. The fog was so dense that the gatemen failed to see either the car or the train and left the gates open. Seven passengers on the street car were hurt, of whom four probably will die.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—Resolutions declaring that unrest in Lawrence and other textile centers is caused by the mill owners, were adopted by the International Convention of the United Textile Workers of America today. The Industrial Workers of the World were criticised for the methods they employ in conducting strikes. The convention voted in favor of having every State which has textile mills adopt the 54-hour work week law.

DAVIDSON VS. A. & M.

Presbyterians Very Hopeful—Wilson Club—College News

Davidson, N. C., Oct. 23.—The approaching football game Saturday with A. & M. in Charlotte is looked forward to by both players and students with great pleasure. The good all-round work of the team last Saturday against Mount Pleasant has raised the hopes of the boys much higher than at any time since the Carolina game. The school gets half holiday Saturday and is going to Charlotte on a special train to witness the game.

A mass meeting of the student body was held last night in Shearer Hall for the purpose of arousing school spirit and interest in the coming game. Several speeches were made and the meeting was characterized as will be the game Saturday by systematic rooting held by cheer leader "Coach" Johnston. Much interest was shown, and almost the entire student body will be on hand Saturday to show the "Old Davidson Spirit."

The team is working every afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, and Coach Cook and Captain Graham have rounded the team into the best possible condition. The team this year though composed almost entirely of new men and very light, is characterized by the swiftness that Davidson has always been noted for.

At center are Peters, who played on "Macaulies" last year, and Robinson, of last year's Junior class team. The guards are Sally, of last year's team; Wolfe, of last year's "scrubs," and Anderson, who is out for the first time but showing up exceptionally well. Tackles are McQueen, three years star at center; Phipps, also of last year's team, and J. Howell, of last year's "scrubs," who showed up well in the Carolina game. Ends are Fuller, captain of this year's track team; Rumple, of last year's Sophomore class team; Clary, of last year's "scrubs." At quarter is Captain Graham, who is perhaps the best broken field runner in the State, assisted by McWhorter, a new but very fast man. At fullback both Yates and Todd, of last year's "scrubs," are showing up well and one will probably be shifted to half. There are quite a number of men showing up well at half. Morrow, captain of last year's "Fishburn" team; Witherington, of last year's "Horner team;" G. Howell, of last year's "scrubs," are showing up well. The "scrub" team is exceptionally strong this year and is giving the 'Varsity the hardest kind of practice. The punting is being done by Yates and McQueen and is of the highest order.

This game marks the last day of the Charlotte Fair and the attendance is expected to be the largest this year.

Last night after the football meeting the students were asked to remain and a Woodrow Wilson Club was formed. Mr. Ed. Lynch, of Edgefield, S. C., presented the cause. Mr. Carson, president of the student body, spoke of the duty of Wilson's alma mater to support one of her sons to the highest position of the country. Mr. McDuffie, who is a Progressive, said he was going to vote for Wilson because he thought Wilson was the strongest man and also because he was a former member of Davidson.

Mr. Lynch was elected president and Mr. Golden, of Taladega, Ala., was made secretary. Messrs. Williamson McDuffie and Rampley were elected members of the financial committee. The entire school is to be canvassed and each member was urged to give as much as possible to the good cause. Today the interest is far greater than the most hopeful dreamed of. The first subscriptions were very liberal and the president is very much encouraged. It was announced that a rally would be held on November 2nd and some prominent Democrat would be invited to speak.

MAY LICENSE VICE.

Attorney Prepares Opinion for Chicago Council—Segregate It.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—William H. Saxton, corporation counsel, of Chicago, made public today an opinion prepared for the vice committee of the city council, in which he outlined plans by which the segregated vice district may be restored under official sanction, assuring immunity, so far as the city is concerned, to violators of State laws within those districts.

In brief, the plan is that the city pass ordinances providing penalties in addition to the State laws for conducting disorderly places in all sections of the city except the spots selected for segregation. The tacit understanding will be that in these districts, the city having given them exemption, vice will be permitted to flourish to a certain extent.

The opinion explains that the city is powerless to pass ordinances, sanctioning segregated districts in conflict with the State laws, but suggests that the State Legislature may amend the statutes to give the cities discretion to do so and even provide that local referendums be taken on the question.

WILL CONCLUDE TODAY

Beveridge Will Appear Before Clapp Committee

Washington, Oct. 24.—With the examination of H. C. Petit, of Indianapolis, and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge, both summoned for tomorrow, the Senate campaign contributions committee asks to conclude the present series of hearings. Senator Beveridge has been urged to appear tomorrow, but if he fails to reach Washington before then, he will be examined Saturday morning.

Both Mr. Petit and Mr. Beveridge will be asked about the fund of $57,500 which, according to testimony before the committee, was sent to Senator Beveridge by George W. Perkins, Edward L. McLean and Gifford Pinchot and returned to the donors.

SIX MEN ARRESTED

Charged With Tarring Miss Minnie LaValley, of Norwalk, Ohio

Norwalk, Ohio, Oct. 24.—Six men were arrested today at West Clarksfield on indictments charging them with riotous conspiracy in connection with the recent tarring or painting of Minnie LaValley, a young woman of that village. A seventh man was arrested on an indictment charging perjury in connection with his testimony before the grand jury investigating the occurrence. Minnie LaValley was seized on the street of the village the night of August 30th, divested of clothing and smeared with tar or paint. It was alleged at the time that women dressed as men had taken part in the affair.

MRS. J. H. CLARK, JR.

Former Resident of Clarkton Passed at Page's Mill.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, N. C., Oct. 24.—The friends of Mrs. John H. Clark, Jr., of Page's Mill, S. C., were very greatly shocked to learn of her death which occurred Monday night at 11 o'clock. She had been sick for some time, but no one thought that death would come so soon. Before marriage, Mrs. Clark was Miss Eliza Kelly, daughter of Mr. John N. Kelly, of this place. About three years ago she was married to Mr. John H. Clark, son of Major W. S. Clark, now of Lumberton, and for some time they made their home here, only a few months ago they moved to Page's Mill, where Mr. Clark is engaged in business.

The funeral services were conducted at 11 o'clock, by Rev. R. A. Lapsley, Jr., in the Presbyterian church here, of which she was a member. A large congregation assembled to pay this last tribute of respect. The quartette, "God Will Take Care of You," sung by Messrs. Singletary, Lapsley, Stegall and Harrington, was very touching and impressive. The pallbearers were Messrs. S. Singletary, Jr., F. A. Harrington, Mac C. Stegall, E. C. Clark and W. D. Thomas, of Clarkton, and Mr E. B. Edwards, of Lumberton. A number of friends from Lumberton and Page's Mill accompanied the family here. Mr. and Mrs. McGowan, of Wilmington, were also here to attend the funeral.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 24.—The petition of Republican leaders that the names of Progressive Presidential electors should not be printed on the State ticket because of alleged failure by the Progressives to secure the requisite number of signatures to their petition for position on the ticket, was denied today by the district court. It is understood that efforts by the Republicans to have the Progressive electors displaced now will be abandoned.

A Penny and a Five-Dollar Gold Piece

Bear a distinct family resemblance in size, if not in relation of quality. Consequently if the gold piece is kept in close association with pennies it is likely to share the fate of being taken for one, or rather GIVEN for one, as happened not long ago with a friend of ours.
